

Another U.N. Battle On Atomic Control Certain This Fall

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

Lake Success, June 23. (P)—A big battle in the United Nations assembly between Russia and the western powers over atomic energy control is certain this fall.

That was assured late yesterday when Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, overrode a majority of the security council with Russia's 26th veto.

His act killed the approval by nine council members of an atomic control scheme based on the original plan offered June 14, 1946, by Bernard M. Baruch, then the United States delegate. The Soviet Ukraine also voted against the majority.

The majority followed previously laid plans and followed up the veto, which had been expected, with a resolution calling for the dispatch of records of the two-year atomic deadlock to the assembly.

Gromyko opposed this resolution also but did not insist on what he said was his right to veto it. He stood aside with Dmitri Z. Manuilov, Soviet Ukrainian foreign minister, and the records were sent to the assembly by a 9 to 0 vote.

Faris El Khouri of Syria, council chairman for this month, ruled that the United Nations atomic energy commission still has the atomic problem under consideration.

Troops Unload Ships At London Wharves

Wildcat Strike Holds Up
Food Cargoes 10 Days

London, June 23. (P)—The labor government sent troops to London wharves today to unload food cargoes tied up for 10 days by a wildcat strike of dock workers.

An official statement from Prime Minister Attlee's office said: "As work has not been resumed in the London docks and perishable food needed by the people is in danger of deterioration and waste, the government has decided that it has no alternative in the public interest but to utilize service personnel to safeguard the peoples' food supplies, particularly those of a perishable nature."

The soldiers began unloading the food ships at noon. The decision to use troops was made by a special emergency committee of the cabinet following failure of a back-to-work movement this morning.

The dock workers walked out 10 days ago in a wildcat strike. They demanded reinstatement of 11 dock workers who were penalized for refusing to handle "dirty cargo" of zinc oxide without extra pay.

Detroit Boys Held For Carrying Guns

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 23 (P)—Charged with carrying concealed weapons, three 15-year-old Detroit boys were held today for examination June 25.

Municipal Judge Jay H. Payne set bond of $5,000 each after the trio demanded examination yesterday. They were returned to the county jail. Probate court jurisdiction was waived.

The boys, Ed Horedocki, William Kozen and Peter Favata were arrested Monday by sheriff's deputies on US-112, about four miles southeast of Ann Arbor.

Deputies said the boys were armed with a .38 caliber revolver, a home-made blackjack and a .22 caliber rifle.

Coal Wage Deadlock Nears Break Today

New Contract Hinges On
$100 Pension Dispute

Washington, June 23. (P)—Justice T. Alan Goldsborough dismissed today his court order banning the United Mine Workers from leaving their jobs.

The court order acted on a motion by the justice department. When H. Graham Morison, assistant attorney general, offered the motion the justice commented that the matter in effect had been disposed of yesterday.

Goldsborough referred to his decision upholding John L. Lewis' plan to pay retired miners a $100 monthly pension.

The court order against a strike was issued by Goldsborough April 21 to end a walkout resulting from a dispute over operation of the pension fund.

The miners and operators now are engaged in bargaining for a new wage agreement to replace one expiring June 30.

The talks were resumed last night. The operators have not yet accepted Goldsborough's pension fund ruling. Lewis has insisted that they do so.

If the mine owners agree to go along, this will mark a long step toward possible successful negotiations to prevent a strike in soft coal pits next month.

Youth and Mother Dead in Collision; Lone Driver Killed

Reed City, June 23 (P)—Roy D. Fonger, 65, of Port Huron, died today in Reed City hospital, the third victim of an automobile accident last night which earlier had claimed the lives of a mother and son.

Ligouri Hurst, 23, and his mother, Mrs. Theresa Hurst, 57, both of Paris, were killed when their auto collided head-on with one driven by Fonger on US-131 four miles south of here.

State police said Mrs. Hurst was dead upon admittance to the hospital and her son died a few minutes later. Fonger had suffered head, chest and other internal injuries.

Hurst, a naval veteran of three years service, was part owner of a grocery store at Paris. A brother, Alphonso, was killed in an auto accident two years ago.

Store Blown Up In Virginia Town; 19 Persons Hurt

Winchester, Va., June 23. (P)—A basement explosion today wrecked much of a three-story brick department store building in the heart of Winchester's business area and injured 19 persons.

No one was killed.

The blast destroyed the first floor of the Rayless department store, collapsed a portion of the second floor and blew out part of the building's rear wall and all windows.

A few hours after the explosion police reported the side walls had bulged dangerously and may collapse.

Presbytery Fights Racing At Detroit

Detroit, June 23 (P)—The Presbytery of Detroit voted last night to fight the proposed building of a new horse race track near Detroit and to continue its battle against pari-mutuel betting.

The Presbytery asked the Livonia township zoning board to refuse authorization of the proposed new $7,000,000 track. It sent a copy of its pari-mutuel resolution to Lewis Bradin, state racing commissioner.

TRUSTY RECAPTURED

Jonina (P)—John Smithers, 21-year-old Ionia reformatory trusty who walked away Monday, was recaptured Tuesday after he stopped at the farm home of Edward Joslyn and asked for food. Joslyn called police who encountered no resistance from Smithers when they arrested him.

Allies And Russia Clash Over Money Reforms In Berlin

Warsaw, June 23. (P)—Russia and six other eastern European satellites were reported authoritatively tonight to be considering creation of a separate state in eastern Germany.

BY LYNN HEINZELING

Berlin, June 23. (P)—The three western Allies rejected today a Soviet order for issuance of a Russian-controlled currency for all Berlin and announced that their own new Deutschmark would be used in the city's western sectors.

The Americans, British and French said they were making Berlin a two-currency city rather than submit to an arbitrary violation of four-power agreements.

Tension soared again in this focal point of the east-west cold war.

Crowds of political demonstrators swarmed about the city hall and prevented legislators from entering the building to conduct an emergency debate on the currency reform. The American-controlled German radio said the demonstration was staged by adherents of the Socialist Unity party, which is Communist-led and Soviet-dominated.

The western Allies moved swiftly after the overnight announcement of Russian currency reform for the Soviet zone and Berlin.

Communists To Be Problem For Draft

Armed Forces Must Find
Place For U. S. Reds

BY ELTON C. FAY

Washington, June 23. (P)—The armed forces must decide between now and next fall what they will do with Communists drafted under the new selective service program.

Army officials told a reporter today the problem is under study.

The situation is this: For more than a year the armed forces have been at pains to locate and ease out of the service known or suspected Communists.

The selective service bill passed by Congress says nothing about (a) whether Communists should or should not be drafted or (b) what should be done with them if inducted.

Army spokesmen said they assumed that lacking any legislative directive, they would go ahead and induct them.

But what happens if an inductee, refusing to take the required soldier's oath of allegiance, asserts he is a Communist?

Well, no one seemed to have a ready answer for that.

Smell Squads Hunt Grand Rapids Odors

Grand Rapids, June 23 (P)—Around - the - clock "smelling squads" have been formed by a Northwest Home Owners' Association to further its fight against odors allegedly emanating from a rendering plant nearby.

Association President Leo Esch said there would be a day and night shift of nine men each on the squads "so we can make our complaint immediately to the court."

"They can be called at any time by any housewife and will go to the site of the complaint, check the wind, and follow the offending odor to its source," he added.

Cheboygan County Has No Democrats

Cheboygan, Mich., June 23 (P)—For the second time in as many county elections, there will be no Democratic candidates listed on the primary ballots this fall.

In 1946 not a single Democrat filed for county nominations. Yesterday another filing deadline passed without a Democrat listed.

Even the Republican office holders will have things their own way, since none has opposition. The only race in the primary balloting will be for the non-partisan post of probate judge, held by jurist Robert S. Baird.

Irked Date And Dog Rescue Man In Well

Bremerton Worker, 28,
Trapped Five Days

Bremerton, Wash., June 23 (P)—Dale E. Wilson was alive today—after spending five days in a well—because of his pet Cocker Spaniel and a girl who thought she had been "stood up."

The story was told here at the Navy Hospital where Wilson is recovering from shock and near-starvation.

Wilson, 28-year-old Bremerton Navy yard worker, was out walking a half mile from his home when he fell into a 12-foot abandoned well. He landed in six inches of water, uninjured except for bruises and painful scratches.

That was last Wednesday. Wilson said his dog, Penny, kept an almost constant vigil at the lip of the well. But she left once at just the right time.

The dog was on the front porch of Wilson's home when the girl drove up late Monday to demand an explanation for being "stood up" on a Saturday date.

Penny took off for the well, the girl said, stopping occasionally to look at her. She followed—just why, she can't explain.

In a few minutes, she had determined Wilson's plight and found a rope. Wilson dragged himself to safety.

Greek Troops Drive Into Rebel Pocket

Athens, June 23 (P)—The Greek second and tenth divisions crashed full force today into the guerrilla pocket in the Grammos mountains near Albania.

The Ninth division continued a drive along the Albanian border, capturing Vourbani and piercing the Rebel defense line based on the town.

Dispatches said some guerrillas are trying to go into Albania (a Communist state) to avoid imminent encirclement. Official circles said these probably are only a small part of the Rebel force, estimated at 7,000, under attack.

Wives Need Beating, Says Baltimore Man

Baltimore, June 23. (P)—Jesse A. Garris, who told police "Speaking to your wife is no good, I always beat them," was sentenced today to one year on a charge of thrashing his 18-year-old mate with a chair leg.

Marjorie Reuben Caplan described the wife as "The most brutally beaten woman I've seen in my six years as magistrate."

Mrs. Garris appeared in court with both eyes discolored, a puffed face and bandaged head.

Ties With Israel Tightened by U. S.

Washington, June 23 (P)—The United States tightened its ties with the new state of Israel by agreeing to an exchange of diplomatic missions.

The agreement, announced by President Truman last night, adds another friendly gesture to his prompt recognition of the infant state on May 15.

James Grover McDonald of New York was named special United States representative to the Tel Aviv regime.

The Jewish state designated Elihu Epstein to head an Israeli mission in Washington.

Ford Motor Co. And Workers Still Far Apart On Pay Boost

Detroit, June 23 (P)—The Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers resumed negotiations today, apparently still well apart on the matter of a wage boost for 110,000 Ford employees.

As the two sides returned to the bargaining table (9 a. m. EST), Ford expected a counter-proposal on the wage question from the UAW.

Yesterday the union turned down the company offer, made Monday, to raise production workers' pay by 11 or 14 cents an hour—14 for employees making $1.50 or more an hour and 11 for those making less.

UAW negotiators originally asked 30 cents more per hour. They said yesterday the Ford offer was "inadequate to meet the present needs of Ford workers," and promised some sort of wage proposal before the week is up.

But company spokesmen warned that Ford was not interested in "horse trading" with the union.

The 11-14 cent proposal represented "our complete and thoroughly deliberate position in this matter," Ford added.

Competitors Take Lead

Before the union won wage increases from Ford's two principal competitors, General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp., the auto company had asked its production workers to skip a third round postwar wage boost.

This week's offer came after GM had granted its 225,000 employees an adjustable 11-cent hourly raise, and Chrysler added a flat 13 cents to the hourly wages of its 90,000 workers.

Ford now pays an average of slightly more than $1.50 an hour. While the UAW continued bargaining with the last of the auto industry's "big three," a new wage settlement was announced at Muskegon.

There the Sealed Power Corp. granted members of UAW-CIO Local 637 pay raises ranging from seven to 13 cents an hour, depending on work classifications.

The contract covering an estimated 6,000 workers runs two years subject to a wage reopening next June.

Pastor Gives Tips For Mutuals Bets In Sunday Sermons

Detroit, June 23 (P)—Police charged today that the Rev. Wallace R. Robinson's scriptural quotations turned into easy money for his congregation.

Detective George Harge said the Negro pastor of Alpha and Omega Spiritual church regularly stressed a chapter and verse number in his bible readings on a Sunday radio broadcast, thus tipping off his followers on the number to play in the mutuals racket.

Sunday's scripture, Harge said, came from the seventh chapter and 11th verse of first Corinthians. He reported many of the congregation hurried out and played number 711—and won.

Arrested yesterday, the minister was too surprised even to quote from the book of numbers, Harge added. Robinson was up for arraignment today on a charge of fortune telling.

Plurality of 32,359 Piled Up By Woman Nominee In Maine

Skowhegan, Me., June 23 (P)—Rep. Margaret C. Smith, nominated to the Senate in traditional Republican Maine, planned to fly today to Philadelphia and a rousing reception at her party's national convention.

Mrs. Smith piled up a 32,359 plurality over three male opponents in Monday's primary. Even she was surprised at the margin.

"Of course I always thought I was going to win," she said, "but I never dreamed of anything like that."

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., permanent chairman, extended the invitation to the convention.

Cause of the accident was not determined.

Vandenberg Will Be Nominated By Governor Sigler

BY JACK BELL

Convention Hall, Philadelphia, June 23 (P)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg gave an okay today for his name to go formally before the Republican presidential nominating convention. Leaders of a spreading "Stop Dewey" coalition immediately sought to enlist Vandenberg's backers.

Ohio Senator Robert A. Taft, spearheading the "Stop Dewey" moves with Harold E. Stassen, told reporters he and Stassen have invited Governors Kim Sigler of Michigan and Earl Warren of California to an afternoon conference. Sigler heads the Michigan delegation booming Vandenberg for the nomination.

As Taft and Stassen outlined the situation in separate news conferences, their aim is this:

First, to convince Dewey and the convention that the New York governor cannot be nominated.

Second, to let the convention delegates decide without pressure among the other presidential hopefuls.

Deal Resented
Taft and Stassen had conferred together just before their meetings with reporters. Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania sat in on the conference.

Jersey On Bandwagon
Convention Hall, Philadelphia, June 23 (P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey picked up another "favorite son" backer today in his drive for the Republican presidential nomination. This time it was Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, leader of New Jersey's 35-vote convention delegation.

The New York governor's backers already were claiming the nomination was assured when Driscoll plumped for Dewey.

Duff is leading an anti-Dewey faction in the big Pennsylvania delegation. That group is to caucus tonight and Duff said "we will have a candidate" to oppose the efforts to line up the delegation for Dewey.

Stassen told reporters there is "great resentment" among the delegates over the attempt to swing Pennsylvania's delegates to Dewey. Senator Edward Martin withdrew yesterday as Pennsylvania's favorite son candidate and plumped for Dewey. Stassen called this the "Dewey-Grundy deal."

Nude Girl, 5, Found Locked Up In Closet

Parents Arrested After Return From Outing

San Francisco, June 23 (P)—The parents of five-year-old Sharon Stewart were in custody today after the child was freed from confinement in a dark and foul-smelling closet at the family home.

When found in the cramped, dungeon-like closet, the little girl was completely nude, her hair was tangled and matted and she was some 15 pounds underweight. At the hospital where she was bathed and examined doctors said Sharon was undernourished but not in serious condition.

The mother, Mrs. Esther Stewart, 29, was arrested when she returned late yesterday from a beach outing. The father, Robert, 32, was picked up when he came back from a fishing trip. He is a city fireman. The Stewarts have two other children.

Sharon told police that "mommy" put her in the closet and also that she had tied her to her crib. The child said her father had never done either of these things.

Probation officers summoned by neighbors went to the Stewart home yesterday and found the girl in the closet, with the door held shut by a heavy dresser. The closet was about three feet square.

The child said her mother had put her in the closet early Monday.

Howard C. Lawrence, Michigan Delegate, Ill at Philadelphia

Philadelphia, June 23. (P)—Howard C. Lawrence of Grand Rapids, Mich., a Republican convention delegate, was taken ill and brought to a hospital today.

He became ill in the hotel suite of Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr., son of Sen. Vandenberg.

A former Michigan state treasurer, Lawrence managed Sen. Vandenberg's campaign when the senator sought the re-nomination in 1940.

Rain Damage Heavy, One Person Killed In Michigan Storm

(By The Associated Press)

A series of lightning storms, accompanied by heavy rains, hit scattered areas of Lower Michigan Tuesday and caused considerable property damage.

At least one person was killed by the storm.

Peter Andress, 38, an Eaton Rapids farmer, was struck and killed by lightning late Tuesday afternoon. Sheriff's officers said Andress was driving a tractor in a field when the storm came up.

He parked the tractor under the only tree in the field and was leaning against the tree when the lightning struck.

A Flint youth, Donald Cash, 18, was slightly injured when lightning hit the garage where he was repairing his auto.

Sailboats Capsized
Seven persons had a narrow escape on Cass Lake, near Pontiac, when their sailboats were capsized by gusts of wind during the storm. They were rescued by a passing cabin cruiser.

The Detroit city area had a brief deluge of rain, while the storms raised some havoc in the Pontiac-Birmingham area, Grand Rapids, Flint and Saginaw.

Saginaw reported 1.1 inches of rain in 20 minutes, while at Gladwin a 1.39 inch rainfall was recorded in the six-hour period ending at 3 p. m. (EST) last night.

The weather bureau said the storms were accompanied by high winds, some of them reaching gale force.

Lightning caused a $15,000 fire at the Clinton Township Dairy farm of William Nieman. The family managed to get 10 head of cattle and some livestock out of the burning building, but the fire spread to two smaller buildings on the farm.

Civil Strife Shakes New State Of Israel

Munitions Ship Violates
Truce, Gets Blown Up

Tel Aviv, June 23 (P)—Israeli mortar fire blasted a munitions ship beached by Irgun Zvai Leumi rebels last night as civil strife shook the new Jewish state of Israel.

The ammo-laden vessel burst into flames, forcing a four-hour battle between Irgun and the army into confusion. Thousands of Tel Aviv residents fled the central water front, scene of the fighting.

The ship—an LST—was carrying 600 tons of munitions in violation of the terms of the four-week United Nations truce which forbids the importation of arms during that period.

Later, persons watching from distant rooftops, said they heard 12 or 15 explosions. Clouds of smoke arose, obscuring the whole area. Soon afterward an Irgun truck with a loudspeaker toured the city while an announcer proclaimed sarcastically:

"Haganah has achieved a great victory in blowing up our ship."

Room For Only 29 More In Delta Guard Group; Enlist At Army Office

Young men of draft age in Delta county contemplating enlisting in the National Guard to avoid selective service are reminded that the Delta county company is limited to a membership of 129.

This means that after the strength reaches 129, it will not be possible to enlist any more men here.

Only 29 vacancies exist in the local unit, Company C of the Upper Michigan National Guard battalion, and these are expected to be filled before the end of the week.

WHERE, WHEN TO ENLIST

Until the maximum of 129 has been reached, local National Guard enlistments will be accepted at the State Fairgrounds Armory tonight and at the Army recruiting office, 1215 Ludington street, tomorrow and Friday. Guard enlistments also will be accepted at the Army recruiting office tomorrow and Friday nights.

To be exempt from the draft, young men join the National Guard before the draft bill, already passed by the Senate and House, is signed by President Truman. The president's signature makes it law, and after the bill is signed, it will not be possible to join the Guard to escape the draft. Those already in, however, will be exempt.

Enlistments accepted by S/Sgt. LeRoy Erickson at the State Fairgrounds Armory yesterday boosted the local membership to 100, leaving only 29 vacancies before maximum strength is reached.

In addition to 29 enlisted men vacancies, the unit also is authorized to accept applications for four officers in the grade of first lieutenant. Three platoon commanders and one administrative officer are needed. All former officers of the United States Armed Forces are eligible to apply for a National Guard commission here in the grade of first lieutenant.

All men who served in World War II and were discharged with a rating in one of the top three grades of non-commissioned officers are eligible to apply for a National Guard commission in the grade of second lieutenant. Former warrant officers also are eligible to apply for a Guard commission.

STATE GUARD CEILING

Lansing, June 23 (U)—A ceiling has been suddenly clamped on total strength of the Michigan National Guard, the state adjutant general's office announced today.

This was expected to intensify the rush of enlistments of eligible men to escape the draft before the president signs the new federal draft bill.

The Federal National Guard bureau notified the Michigan guard that its membership could not exceed 7,209. Total strength of the guard on June 15 was 6,221.

Those who are members of the National Guard and other organized reserves before the president signs the draft bill will be exempted from the draft.

Robert is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stephens, who now live at 829 Wisconsin avenue, Lansing.

SUPERVISORS TO MEET JUNE 28

Annual Equalization Is Principal Business

The Delta county board of supervisors will meet Monday, June 28, in the court house at Escanaba to equalize valuations of taxable property for county tax purposes. Supervisor Harold Gustafson of Ensign will preside.

In equalization the property valuation as fixed by the boards of review in the 14 townships and in the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone are adjusted for county tax purposes after an examination of the assessment rolls by the equalization committee. Supervisor Allen T. Mercier of Nahma is chairman of the committee.

Last year the county board equalized Delta's total valuation at $25,311,041. This included both real and personal property. It is indicated that valuations in nearly every unit, possibly all units in the county have increased since last year. The increases were in new construction and other physical improvements, together with larger stocks in personal property. The state tax commission has placed a 1947 state equalized value on Delta county of $25,842,024 and this figure may be exceeded by the county following Monday's equalization meeting of the supervisors.

The county board will also consider other business as may come before it.

TEST FAVORS RANNEY WELL

Coarse Sand Favorable,
Expert Indicates

The drilling of a six inch test well at Sand Point to obtain geological information in connection with the city's water problem has been completed and R. C. Reimund of the Ranney Water Supply company, Cleveland, reported this morning that the findings indicate the desirability of conducting a Ranney survey to obtain further information.

Reimund said that the test well did not develop any layer of gravel but that sufficient coarse sand exists to make possible a Ranney well that could produce up to 6,000,000 gallons of water daily.

Coarse sand was found to a depth of 70 feet, which would be the maximum depth of a Ranney well in this locality. Finer sand was discovered from 70 to 90 feet and sand and clay developed from 90 to 96 feet. Bedrock was struck at 96 feet, where the drilling ended.

A Ranney survey would consist of the drilling of a series of pattern wells and at least one 12 inch pumping well. From the information obtained, it would be possible to determine accurately whether a Ranney well would meet the city's problem, as well as the

Mercury Vapor Street Lamps Being Installed On Experimental Basis

An experimental installation of mercury vapor street lamps is under way in the 1100 block of Ludington street and the new lamps will be illuminated for the first time Thursday night, it has been announced by Hugo Lillquist, superintendent of the city electrical department.

Four mercury vapor lamps will be installed in the block to replace eight of the present standard incandescent lamps but the four lamps are designed to provide more than three times as much light as the present lamps.

The mercury vapor lamps provide a light with a bluish cast.

The present lamps provide an average of 25 candlepower per square, utilizing eight lamps in a block, but the four mercury vapor lamps are designed to provide .87 candlepower of light per square foot.

The present lamps consume 240 watts of electricity each per hour, or 1920 watts for the eight lamps. The mercury vapor lamps consume 400 watts each or a total of 1600 watts for the four lamps, which will be staggered in their location on the two sides of the street.

Test Three Types

Lillquist reported that the lamps being installed in the 1100 block of Ludington street are furnished without cost to the city for experimental use by the Line Material company. Next week a similar installation will be made in the 700 block of Ludington street, using mercury vapor lamps furnished by the Westinghouse Electric company and the following week mercury vapor lamps manufactured by General Electric company will be installed in the 1300 block of Ludington street.

The present lamps are 4,000 lumen lamps, eight of them on both sides of a block providing a total of 32,000 lumens. The mercury vapor lamps are rated at 20,000 lumens each, four of them providing 80,000 lumens. Lillquist explained, however, that although the amount of lumens developed by the four mercury arc lamps are roughly two and a half times the lumens developed by the eight standard lamps now in use, they should provide at least three and a half times more candlepower per square foot because of the more advantageous design.

The mercury vapor lamps cost about four times as much as the type of lamp now in use but they are very popular in many areas because they provide a considerably greater amount of light. Also only half as much of them are used to light a given area as are required by the standard type lamp.

Lillquist said this morning that the cost of making a complete changeover on Ludington street would be $4500 but that salvage of $2,000 could be realized from the present lamps, which would be utilized elsewhere in the city.

The mercury vapor lamps are rated for 3500 hours of use before replacement is necessary. Standard type lamps are rated for 2000 hours but actually last at least twice their rated life.

The installation is strictly experimental to determine the public reaction, Lillquist emphasized. For that reason the electric department will invite comment, either favorable or unfavorable, from the public after the lamps have been in use for a period of time.

Invite Farmers To Join Dairy Booster Contest

Every farmer who uses Escanaba as a trading center is invited to join the Delta County Dairy Boosters association, obtain dairy testing services through membership, and compete for trophies and cash awards to be presented by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, contest sponsor.

The Dairy Booster contest was described to dairy farmers of this area at a dinner meeting last month in Escanaba, and they indicated their intention of becoming members of the association. The Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee, headed by John LaMotte, assisted by J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, and a committee of farmers and business men completed plans for the Dairy Boosters association.

Barney Thompson of Cornell has been hired as tester for the association, it was announced today.

The program will operate on a cooperative basis, with the farmers testing their individual cows for milk and butterfat production. Each farmer who joins will pay an annual membership fee of $2, and this money will be used to take care of equipment needed in carrying out the testing program.

The tester will also receive from the farmers 20 cents per cow per month, but the tester will not stay overnight on any farm. The tester will leave sample bottles and other equipment necessary for the farmer to take the samples, and he will pick them up the following day and carry out the testing in a central laboratory. A report on the tests will be mailed to the farmer.

"I would like to advise everyone who is planning to join the association to buy a dairy scale with which to weigh the milk once a month from each cow when the samples are taken," said County Agent Heirman. "These dairy scales are the type that are hung from the ceiling, with a hook on the bottom for the pail of milk."

The contest for the first year will be based on production for the entire herd. The herds will be divided in the contest into small, medium and large herd classes. Several prizes in each division will be awarded by the Chamber of Commerce. First prize will be a large trophy to the farmer who has the highest average in small, medium and large herd divisions, with additional trophies and cash awards for other placings.

Membership application blanks will soon be mailed to farmers in the county from the office of the county agent. If there are farmers who do not receive them in this area and wish to join, they are advised to contact the agent's office in the court house at Escanaba. Heirman said it is hoped to have the testing program started in July.

HEALTH BUDGET TOTAL $50,023

Delta-Menominee To Pay
$28,100 Of Total

The Delta-Menominee health district board in meeting yesterday in Escanaba approved a $50,023 budget for the coming fiscal year which starts July 1, and placed the local share of financing on a per capita basis.

Federal contributions to the two-county health district will total $16,923; state contributions $5,000; and the local share will be $28,100.

The local funds will be raised as follows: Delta county $15,800 and Menominee county $12,300.

Costs for both counties were arrived on a per capita basis, less the amounts paid to school nurses by the school boards in Gladstone, Escanaba and Menominee.

Establish Formula.
Menominee county has a population of 25,000 and its 63 cents per capita contribution would be $14,500 less $2,200 paid a school nurse by the Menominee city schools, which would leave the county's appropriation to the health district at $12,300.

Delta county has a population of 35,000 and its 58 cents per capita contribution would be $20,300 less $4,500 paid school nurses in Escanaba and Gladstone, leaving $15,800 to be appropriated by the county board.

The Menominee-Delta health district board held that in fairness it is necessary to consider the expenditures of the school districts for school nurses, since the work of the school nurses reduces the amount of service otherwise required of the health department.

The formula provides local funds to finance the health district for the coming fiscal year. The local contribution last year totaled $24,000 compared with $28,100 for the coming year. The federal contribution in the coming year will also be higher—$16,923 compared with last year's $13,632. The state's $5,000 contribution remains unchanged.

Increase In Salaries
The health board is composed of six supervisors, three from each county. Supervisor Albert Kipfer of Stephenson is chairman of the health board, and other Menominee county representatives on the board are Supervisors Arvil Revall of Dargatz and E. K. Converse of Menominee. Delta county representatives are Supervisors Walter Mannie of Rock, Wynand Nieuwenkamp of Gladstone and Nevin Reynolds of Escanaba.

In adopting the new budget the board also approved salary increases for most health district employees with the exception of Dr. William C. Harrison, director. He continues at $7,200, the same as last year.

Supervising nurse was increased to $3,300, with a possibility that $3,600 must be paid to obtain the services of a qualified person. Staff nurses were increased from $2,400 to $2,520; junior sanitarians were increased from $2,400 to $2,500; and senior sanitarian to $3,000.

Salaries in total for the coming year were estimated at $33,100 total or 76 percent of the budget.

Personnel Changes
Most of the employees of the health district are required to have cars in performing their duties in the two counties. The health board increased the allow-

Mrs. P. G. Erickson Former Resident Of Gladstone Is Dead

Gladstone—Mrs. Leona Erickson, 82, widow of P. G. Erickson, prominent groceryman in Gladstone for many years, died at 12:30 a. m. today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Hamberger, 927 Mulberry avenue, Waterloo, Iowa.

The family lived in Gladstone until Mr. Erickson's retirement in 1936 and lived in Crystal Falls before going to Waterloo. Mr. Erickson died in 1946.

Mrs. Erickson was a member of the Mission Covenant church of Gladstone.

Surviving are the daughter, Mrs. Hamberger, and two sons, Gilbert, of Detroit, and Clarence, of Waterloo.

Services will be held at Waterloo either Friday or Saturday. Buy and Sell the Classified Way ance for travel from 6 to 7 cents per mile in the coming year. It is estimated that travel costs will total about $9,450 or nearly 19 per cent of the budget.

Dr. Harrison announced that Miss Mary Brimberry, who has been on loan to the district from the U. S. Public Health Service, is to leave July 1 on a reassignment to the territory of Alaska. She has served here as supervising nurse without salary cost to the district.

Miss Phoebe Anderson of Van Buren county, Michigan, will arrive August 1 to take over the duties of supervising nurse in the district, Dr. Harrison said.

The health board was given an activities report by Dr. Harrison and proposed public health financing legislative bills, state and federal, were discussed. Discussion also touched briefly on the work of the health department in the inspection of establishments serving alcoholic beverages.

Iron Mountain's Ski Tournery Fund Now In The "Red"

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Showing a balance on Aug. 1, 1947, of $8,896.57, and added income of $12,600.91 from the 1948 ski tournament and other sources, the Iron Mountain - Kingsford Winter Sports Association concluded its fiscal year, last May 31, some $1,100 in the "red", according to the annual audit completed last week by the Morrison Audit Company, of Marquette.

Actually, a "balance" of $154.71 is shown for May 31, but against that is an estimated $1,200 due the Dickinson county road commission for snow-plowing at Pine Mountain and "other liabilities not to exceed $100." The result, if all obligations were met, is still an estimated $1,146 on the wrong side of the ledger.

Menominee Will Keep Fast Time

Menominee, Mich.—Fast time for Menominee was left undisturbed by city council Monday night when by 11 to the aldermen voted to place on file a petition signed by 276 persons asking council to reconsider its previous action and put the clocks back on central standard time.

There was no discussion on the motion to file the petition offered by two fast time advocates, Aldermen Frank Herley (6th) and Francis Eckert (4th). Opposing the filing were the two First ward aldermen, Edmund Beaudou and Harry Gunderson. Beaudou opposed fast time when it was adopted two weeks ago, but Gunderson voted in favor of the change. Ald. John Jenkins, Jr. (3rd) was absent. He is a member of the Lions club delegation attending the annual U. P. Lions convention at Hancock this week.

In presenting the petition, City Clerk B. W. Delgoffe reported "a few of the signers do not live in Menominee" and about "30 per cent of the signatures carried no addresses."

Blaney Park was selected for the 1949 convention, and Gladstone was awarded the annual Lions bowling tournament.

Delegates from Escanaba were Gust Asp, Cliff Vadnais and Mel Oslund.

International Director S. A. Dodge of Detroit was the main speaker at the annual meeting held at the Legion club.

Bass Season Opens At Midnight Thursday

BY JAMES A. O. CROWE
Lansing, June 23 (P)—Thousands of that hardy breed—the Michigan bass fishermen—will be poised on their favorite lake at midnight Thursday to make their first cast of the season.

Large and smallmouth black bass, which many contend are the gamiest inland water fish in America, become legal game at that hour.

At the same time all lakes south of M-46 will be opened for general fishing, and the bluegill season opens throughout the state. Thus not only the bass fisherman with his expensive reels and other tackle, but the unpretentious cane-pole fisherman will be out on the water.

An auspicious opening is indicated by early observations, according to conservation department fish experts.

The cooler weather this spring generally was expected to keep the fish from hiding in deep pools as is their habit when it gets too hot for their liking.

In southern lakes open under special regulations, panfish have been hitting well all spring. Water levels are normal on most lakes, and the fish have generally completed a successful spawning season.

Good For You, Too
Even the state health department got into the act this week, announcing that both fishing and fish are good for people.

This is not news to a fisherman, but it is nice to have it made official.

The health department said fishing is good mental hygiene, so it's good for you. The pleasant anticipation, fresh air, sunshine, exercise, relaxation and good companionship all make for a happy life, the department said.

Besides, the fish you catch (if any) contain proteins, fat, calcium, iron and lots of vitamins, so eat them, the department said, they are good for you.

A word or two of caution was appended by the health authorities.

They urged fishermen to watch out for sunburn and sunstroke which a strong sun reflected from water can inflict on the incautious. Lake water should not be drunk, because of the danger of contamination. Carry a first aid kit to treat fish hook wounds, blisters, etc., on the spot.

So if the weather holds good, everybody in authority agrees you might as well go fishing.

Now all that remains is to persuade your wife to let you go.

"Outside Interference"

THE three members of the Manistique city council, who forced the resignation of James Dickson as city manager by reducing his salary to $1,200 a year, declared in a statement published yesterday that they do not like "outside interference" in their governmental affairs.

The statement was in response to editorial comments in the Escanaba Daily Press in which we referred to the unsavory method that the majority of the Manistique council employed in putting the squeeze on their manager.

Just to keep the record straight, let it be understood that the Escanaba Daily Press, exercising its constitutional right of a free press, will continue to oppose anything that it deems to be wrong, whether the circumstances involved concern Escanaba, Gladstone, Manistique, Timbuctoo or any other place. Only by the widest stretch of the imagination can that be classified as "outside interference."

Communities can no longer isolate themselves to the point that whatever they might do has no relationship to other communities. What has happened at Manistique is a stiff poke at good government principles. We would be dodging our responsibilities to our readers if we failed to point that out—not only to our readers in Manistique but likewise to our subscribers elsewhere.

Our criticism of the action of the Manistique city council was not predicated upon the fact that the three members of the council sought to oust City Manager Dickson, but rather upon the method by which they chose to do so. We were careful to make that clear at the time the critical editorials were published.

We said then and we repeat now that the issue involved is not whether Mr. Dickson was a good city manager or a bad city manager for Manistique. The issue is whether a council—any council—is justified in bypassing the rules of fairness as established by the city charter through the use of subterfuge.

We have condemned this action at Manistique, just as we would condemn it anywhere else.

Forest Development

WILLIAM KLUENDER, forestry agent of the Chicago and North Western Railway, poses a challenge to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan in speeches that he is giving to service clubs and other groups in the area.

Kluender spoke Monday to the Rotary and Lions clubs in Escanaba. Among other things he said that no other area in the United States is so dependent upon forestry products for its economic stability as the Upper Peninsula and, fortunately, no other area has a better chance to sustain and develop its forest resources. The Upper Peninsula, he emphasized, has 88% of its area in forest land.

The railway official outlined just a few of the new processes for the use of forest products, explaining how these processes help to eliminate much of the waste that has been a primary cause of the despoilation of forest lands. He outlined, too, a few of the new uses of aspen, once called a weed tree by Michigan lumbermen. Aspen, or poplar or popple as it is commonly called in this locality, is grown extensively and prolifically in the Upper Peninsula. Millions of feet of aspen have gone to waste in years past because its valuable properties were not recognized.

The forestry development in the Upper Peninsula requires sound management of forest lands, selective cutting, greatest utilization of forest products to reduce waste and, of course, it requires vigilance against fires. We are moving forward towards attainment of that program, perhaps not as rapidly as we would like but forward, nonetheless.

No Ban On Politics

WITHOUT ruling specifically on the constitutionality of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor act that bans political expenditures from union treasuries, the U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that the act does not keep publications financed by union or corporation funds from taking sides in a political campaign.

This ruling is within the concepts of the constitutional provisions of free speech and free press. The wording of the Taft-Hartley labor act has brought forth considerable criticism that it runs counter to the constitution on the political expenditures issue.

The Supreme Court has not actually ruled on whether the political expenditures ban is constitutional or not. It merely ruled that the act does not prevent the publication of the views of either capital or labor on political issues. If the law did specifically ban such publication, the court left little room for doubt that such provision would be illegal.

It is well that this issue has been cleared up now before the election campaign gathers momentum. All interested parties are now privileged to publish their views on election issues and about political candidates. Under our democratic system of government, this is the way it should be because it provides for fullest freedom of information. Democracy presumes that the voters will be intelligent enough to arrive at the most logical solution of political issues provided they have access to all information on the subject. That is why the guarantees of freedom of speech and freedom of the press are the most fundamental of our individual liberties.

Russia's Squeeze Play

RUSSIA is making a fresh attempt to drive the western Allies out of Berlin. The efforts may seem to take petty and childish forms—the sit-down in the Soviet's British-sector radio station, the flimsy excuses for blocking rail and motor traffic, and so on. But the Kremlin clearly isn't playing for petty stakes.

The prize is Germany, and control of Berlin would give the Russians a big advantage. As a city, it hardly seems worth fighting for. But as a symbol, Berlin in Russian hands would probably make a deep impression on the German people. For though their Reich and all its glory are gone, and though their capital city is in ruins, Berlin is still Berlin.

The Russians' sole occupation of the city might raise the stock of the "unified" Germany that they are trying to sell. Already there seem to be a lot of prospective buyers. After all, the Germany that voted Hitler to power in a free and honest election wouldn't fear a dictatorship as would a country with democratic traditions—so long as a new dictatorship would let the Germans feel and act important and treat them no more cruelly than the Nazis did.

Since Berlin is surrounded by the Soviet zone, the Russian squeeze play is not hard to work. If it comes to a point of driving the western forces out of the city, the Reds could do it with little trouble. Yet the western Allies seem determined to stick it out.

There are two evident reasons for this. One is the unwillingness to give Russia a clear-cut advantage in her effort to divide and conquer Germany. The joint administration of Berlin has long since become a fiction; in place of four-power control there are two hostile camps. But voluntary withdrawal would be a surrender to the Soviet design.

The other reason is that as long as Allied troops and administrators are in Berlin, the Russian efforts to oust them are daily reminders that Marshal Stalin is trying to repudiate his solemn agreement with the heads of the American and British governments at Potsdam. Those efforts may impress the Germans. But to thinking people of free Europe they are a demonstration of Russian dishonesty.

The poet who wrote "blessings on thee... barefoot boy," had what people called just a hunch before Hitler called it an intuition. He sensed that there may be something antithetical about feet and shoes.

Now comes a foot expert who warns fellow experts that the human foot, as we know it, "is on the way out." He blames shoes.

The prediction demands us of another made about the effect of motor cars on legs. Cars have come and cars have gone, and legs are still used for another purpose than reaching the clutch pedal. What effect the new clutchless cars will have on the pedal extremities is a guess best left to expert guessers.

In any event, the menace is not motors but shoes, by latest findings. It is expected, even by those who take it seriously, to require 10,000 years for development. If human beings still have feet by then, will the experts have a leg to stand on? And can it matter much to a race more intent on leaving tire tracks than footprints on the sands of time?

PASSENGER SHIPS COMING

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

Good indeed is the news that passenger ships will be coming to the Sault again this year. It will be like old times.

This city of the locks is a natural port of call for passenger and excursion ships. Sault Ste. Marie, accustomed to welcoming travelers for over a century, even before the locks, roads and railroads were built, is a happy climax to any lake journey.

Congratulations are in order for Congressman Potter, Col. Riani, Mayor Hunt and C-C Secretary Merrifield for having arrived at an agreement to permit docking of lake passenger ships at government piers until the Sault comes into possession of its own dockage facilities.

It should be pointed out that docking of passenger ships is important to us, and also that the docking at government piers is an inconvenience to other river traffic. The practice will be a success only if there is whole-hearted cooperation on the part of all concerned.

A CHECK LIST OF PRONUNCIATIONS

Here are some important words to practice on. A good way to fix the correct pronunciations in your mind is to put the words in short sentences; then read the sentences aloud until the words fall naturally and correctly from your tongue.

Supple. This word means, "pliant; flexible." Do not pronounce it "SOO-pl." In not a single English word beginning with s-u-p-p is the "u" pronounced "oo" as in "food" or "you" as in "feud." The first syllable of supple is exactly like the sup-

Washington. — How many Republicans will go to Philadelphia with the secret hope that somehow the lightning of destiny may strike them is anyone's guess. That kind of hope springs eternal in the politician's breast.

Most conspicuous among these hopefuls is Gov. Earl Warren of California. He has the 53 delegates of California in his pocket to reinforce his hopes.

But Warren has an intangible asset that is almost equally important. As chief executive of perhaps the most dynamic and swiftly growing state in the union, he understands the need to adapt government to change.

KEEPS PACE WITH TIMES

This is to say he knows a great deal about social security, health insurance, housing, and the demands made upon present-day government. While his speeches are sometimes fuzzy, he has shown that he knows how to manage California's mercurial interests and at the same time win votes in both parties.

In other words, he is aware that we are living in mid-twentieth century. For better or worse, and it seems to be mostly worse, this is the era not of the horse and buggy but of the supersonic plane and atomic energy.

Unfortunately, this awareness is not too widespread among the older members of the Republican national committee. They show, and this includes some of the very dark horses in the Philadelphia stable, a wistful desire to live in the shadows of yesterday.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin jr., is a warm, friendly congressman from Massachusetts who, through political astuteness and the processor of seniority, has risen to conspicuous office. Faithfully in season and out he has followed the narrowest kind of party regularity.

While he has never taken a public lead, neither has he ever done anything to check those in the House who tried to sabotage the program for Europe and who succeeded in blocking most social legislation. The fact is the obstructionists could not have operated without at least the tacit aid and consent of Speaker Martin.

He has some powerful backers, including the wealthy Pew family of the Sun Oil Co. In the event of a prolonged deadlock, a weary convention might settle on Martin.

BRICKER FEARS COMMUNISM

In the same classification is Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio. A handsome, distinguished figure, looking every inch a president, he lacks Martin's natural friendliness.

His party regularity is as narrow as that of Martin. It is underscored by his belief in the inevitable rightness of great wealth and particularly self-made wealth.

In his two years in the Senate he has done almost nothing except to get shot at by a disgruntled office seeker. In committee, and particularly on the atomic energy committee, he has displayed an intense fear of Communism.

As with Martin, Bricker has the backing of certain moguls who help to foot the party's bills. The Chicago Tribune wing probably would rather have him than his Ohio colleague, Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Bricker will put Taft's name before the convention with a resounding home and fireside speech. In his loyalty he has publicly decied the rumors labelling him a dark horse.

The convention could reach down deeper in the barrel. But the public would be inclined to resent a more obscure candidate conjured out of the smoke-filled room.

As Merriman Smith has put it in his interesting study of the presidency, "a president is many men." It is, in fact, increasingly an impossible office, imposing an impossible burden on a single individual.

As we measure the men against the job we become ever more aware of the gap between the individual and the demands that inevitably will be made upon him.

of supper, supplement. Say: SUP-ull. Practice the phrase: Swimmers develop supple muscles.

Arraignment. "Act of bringing before a court to answer a charge." Broadcasters often pronounce it exactly like "arrangement." But the "g" is silent as in "reign." Correct: uh-RAIN-m't. Practice phrase: His arraignment is set for next Wednesday.

Resources. "Assets; collective wealth." Not "ree-ZAWR-sez." The second syllable should be exactly like the word "sore." Also, watch the "s" in absorb. Do not pronounce it "z." Resources is: rec-SORE-sez. Absorb is: ab-SAWRB. Practice phrase: The liquidation will absorb all his resources.

Hosiery. "Hose or stockings." Not HOZE-ree. This is a three-syllable word, and the second syllable has the "zh" sound as in leisure, pleasure. Say: HOE-zh-ree.

Practice phrase. He is engaged in the manufacture of hosiery.

Geography. Once, at a lecture, I heard a well-known professor use the pronunciation "JOG-uh-fee." This word should have four distinct syllables, and the first is "jee." Be sure to say: jee-OG-uh-fee. Practice phrase: She failed in geography.

EDUCATION—"The continuing crisis in education demands the same urgent attention being given the more obvious but no more real crisis in national defense," declares James H. McGraw, jr., president of McGraw-Hill Publishing company. Here are some of the more startling McGraw conclusions:

Eighty-five per cent of all public school buildings in the United States need major remodeling to remove health and safety hazards.

At least $11,000,000 must be spent in the next decade on new schools and equipment.

About 5,000,000 more "war babies" than the experts anticipated are reaching school age.

"Some headway" has been made in meeting the teachers' salary crisis. The average teacher's annual salary has increased, within the past year, by about $300—from $2,250 to $2,550.

NEED BILLIONS—McGraw continues:

Not enough school buildings are being built to keep up with current demands.

School construction expenditures for 1948 are estimated at $375 million, which is less than was spent in 1939. Building costs are much higher now, which means that the school building program is falling way behind.

Within the next ten years public and elementary schools must have $6.6 billion; and private schools, colleges and universities $4.4 billion.

EXTREMES—It seems to us that McGraw is treading on safe ground until he advises:

"You can see it better in schools with leaking roofs and outdoor toilets in our greatest cities. There are schools where students still use histories and geographies copyrighted before 1920—books with no mention of World War I, the depression of the 1930's, the Russian revolution or the rise of the dictators. There are countless schools where modern methods of visual education are completely unknown."

In the above paragraph, McGraw is citing extremes.

He might, if he wished, also point out that many schools are the finest public buildings to be found in a community. That textbooks are the latest obtainable, and that radio, the moving picture, the professional lecturer and even television are part of the instruction methods used. In fairness, the extremes of good and bad must be presented.

HELPING HAND.—We will slide from Mr. McGraw's national level to the Escanaba community in one sentence.

In Escanaba there are educational problems that have to do with the physical structures—the school buildings. All of them are the result of financial malnutrition. Minimum maintenance is possible but the budget will not permit major improvements.

Escanaba has been favored and is fortunate because some of its school finance problems will be solved through requests for educational purposes in the will of Mrs. Catherine Bonifas. Not all of the problems will be solved, however, and taxpayers should not consider their obligations

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—The ten highest ranking seniors in the Escanaba high school graduating class were announced yesterday by principal Edward Edick. They are in alphabetical order as follows: Elaine Anderson, Lester Kallin, Loretta Lutz, James McMonagle, Warren Olson, Marian Peterson, Thelma Schiebner, Britton Temby, Betty Tousignant, and Fred Walker.

Munising—Mrs. John Hannah, wife of Mayor John Hannah of Munising, will christen the new state ferry boat, "City of Munising," at the ceremonies which will be attended by visitors from all over the Upper Peninsula.

Escanaba—The cooperation of the general public is requested in observing a city ordinance which makes ten o'clock the closing time for Ludington Park, Beaver Butte, director of parks and recreation, said today.

Gladstone—Assurance that a Veterans' hospital will be constructed in Gladstone was given early this week by Governor Frank Murphy to Mayor Joseph LaFramboise.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—John Lemmer, who underwent a tonsillectomy operation, returned to his home yesterday.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Berglund and son, Wilmore, and Mrs. Ida Grunditz, will leave Saturday for Minneapolis and other points in Minnesota.

Gladstone—Officers for the Volunteer Firemen who were elected at a recent meeting were: Alfred Raddant, fire chief; George Pease, assistant chief; Frank Jackey, secretary; and Walter Hillman, treasurer.

In these times with Russia making moves fast, anything that is good for the country is not so good if it is delayed.

Sen. Chan Gurney (R) of South Dakota, calling for quick action on UMT.

ended to the schools. The generous gift to education is a helping hand, not a handout.

REMINDER — The gifts of Mrs. Bonifas to the Escanaba school district totaled $820,000 for the following purposes:

$500,000 for the construction of a Senior High school building.

$20,000 for maintenance and repair of Catherine Bonifas Technical school.

$150,000 for a school for handicapped children in Escanaba.

$100,000 toward the establishment of a Junior College in Escanaba.

In addition there is the income from $50,000 for scholarships for worthy graduates of any high school.

EXPANSION.—To a degree the bequests provide funds to expand the educational facilities, or replace those that eventually must be replaced, such as the Senior High school building. When the new buildings are completed maintenance costs will be reduced. Yet because of the expansion the total school budget will probably be higher than it is now.

Escanaba is fortunate to be the recipient of gifts for education and other purposes. The community will be better because of it.

Escanaba will have one of the best educational institutions in Michigan—modern high schools, a school for handicapped children, a technical school, and a Junior College.

Philadelphia (P)—A man could get only one ovation like that in a lifetime.

It was the kind of ovation that people give to a leader who has won and lost for them in the past, whom they have passed by for the new prospect of victory.

There is a strange music in the loyalty of massed human voices. And it must have been nostalgic music indeed to Herbert Hoover last night as he stood on the platform and heard the Republican National convention explode in tribute to him.

It must have carried him back across the years on a bridge of turbulent sound to 1928 and the sweltering summer when he was first nominated in Kansas City.

But he didn't show it. As he walked to the speaker's stand he suddenly caught the convention's heart with his familiarity. This was the same Hoover of yore, back perhaps for his swan song at a party convention, for he is 73.

To the Republican delegates as he stood there waiting to speak he was a human symbol of their party, unchanged in principle by either defeat or victory. He stood for winning and losing, but they let him know their pride in him.

The ovation began with the suddenness of a flash flood. It started on the convention floor and swept through the galleries in a crashing gust of sound.

It seemed to catch Hoover, the only living former president, by surprise. As the entire convention leaped to its feet in a tempest of cheers and waving banners, he stood uncertainly, half-squinting his blue eyes in the glare of the bright hot lights.

The sound beat around him like crashes of tremendous surf. He glanced up at the galleries and waved his hand tentatively, like someone on a pier waving goodbye to a friend on a shipboard he wasn't sure could see him.

In a twinkling the aisles were jammed with delegates and the convention hall blazed out "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

All through the hall hundreds of voices picked up the words: "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah! The truth does march on!"

Then the parade of delegates state banners tossing high around around the convention hall met the escanaba platform, giving every delegate a chance to wave on individually to the man who had led their party.

After 15 minutes the bounding ravel of the convention abated. "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah! The truth does march on!"

Then the parade of delegates state banners tossing high around around the convention hall met the escanaba platform, giving every delegate a chance to wave on individually to the man who had led their party.

Another wave of cheering washed through the high hall. Herbert Hoover stood there a moment, listening to the music of loyalty, and then he stepped back and was gone.

He gave no advice to the convention on the biggest problem remaining on its program—the choice of the party's leader for 1948.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Philadelphia. — The sweet smell of victory is in the Republican nostrils. Delegates are flushed with the air of impending triumph. The White House and 1,000,000 or so jobs seem just around the corner. They can almost stretch out their hands and touch the treasury department. And they can hardly wait.

The tension is something terrific. The city of brotherly love is seething with excitement. It's the liveliest convention the Republicans have staged in three decades.

And if it were up to the 5,050 delegates, alternates and others assembled here, they'd vote right now to dispense with all the keynote speeches, yards and yards of old-fashioned oratory, and get right down to the job of nominating the candidate. They are on pins and needles waiting for the first balloting to get started tonight.

SALTY CARROLL REECE

Meanwhile the backstage fireworks have been popping. Salty GOP National Chairman Carroll Reece is a chivalrous Southerner, but he lost his temper with a lady during the battle over Georgia.

The Taft-Dewey forces were arguing hot and heavy over which of the Georgia delegations would be seated. Reece, supposed to be neutral chairman, but openly a Taft man, vociferated that the Taft delegates were qualified. Col. R. B. Creager of Texas backed him up.

Mrs. Dudley C. Hay, Michigan's gracious national committeewoman and secretary of the GOP national committee, didn't agree. She made a speech favoring Dewey.

Whereupon Reece hit the ceiling, charged the Dewey forces were trying to browbeat the national committee, claimed Dewey people had threatened him in his office. If he hadn't known how to control his temper, proclaimed Reece, who comes from the Tennessee mountains, he would have pulled a gun on the Deweyite.

When the vote, 48 to 44, showed Dewey the victor, Reece proceeded to bowl out Mrs. Hay, said he was going to try to defeat Mrs. Hay for re-election as national committeewoman from Michigan.

"Don't worry Mr. Reece," sweetly retorted Mrs. Hay, "when this convention is over you won't be national chairman."

BROKEN WARTIME PROMISES

Four years ago this convention met in an atmosphere of unreality. The greatest invasion Army in all history had crossed the English Channel 21 days before, stormed up the coast of France.

Across another ocean, the U. S. Navy was edging closer to Japan. Even the Chicago hotels in which the Republicans met were haunted by the ghosts of Air Force trainees who had lived there a few months before.

There were those who had said Franklin Roosevelt would never hold an election in wartime, that the U. S. A. would simulate the dictatorship it was trying to defeat. But despite the sombre atmosphere, the conventions and the elections were held.

Today—three short years after the war's end—the old-time political vaudeville is back. The war is pretty much forgotten. The promises of new homes for veterans made so glibly when the boys were overseas, have been sidetracked by one triumphant wing of the Republican party.

Post-war profits are zooming, also prices and inflation. Income, especially for white-collar workers and lower-bracket groups, is proportionately down.

A lot of wartime promises have been forgotten.

ONE GOP LESSON

But not forgotten is one all-important lesson learned by the majority of the party—namely that the U. S. A. cannot live alone.

In 1940 on the eve of the Republican convention, Arthur Vandenberg denounced President Roosevelt's action of putting American military supplies at the disposal of England and France. Next day Thomas E. Dewey criticized FDR's "stab in the back" speech against Mussolini after he invaded stricken France.

Today at Philadelphia, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge jr., is chairman of the GOP platform committee. He is the grandson of the Massachusetts senator who defeated Woodrow Wilson and the League of Nations. Young Senator Lodge, however, no more thinks like his grandfather than his grandfather thought of flying the Atlantic.

Appearing before young Lodge's platform committee the other day was a Cleveland lawyer, John Putnam, with what the elder Lodge would have called a revolutionary proposal. With him was Nat Howard, editor of the Cleveland News.

Neither are crackpots. Both represent strong, conservative interests. They proposed that the Republican party go on record in favor of planting the seeds of world government. Specifically, they proposed a formula for world law and world law enforcement.

Their idea, put forward by a group of Cleveland businessmen, educators and others calling themselves "workers for world security," would make old Henry Cabot Lodge turn over in his austere grave.

However, 300,000 people have signed their petition endorsing the broad principles of world government, and young Senator Lodge

Survey Shows Soap Operas Hold Family Life Together

Chicago, (SS) — Soap operas help to hold family life together. In this, they are like the old-time morality plays, in the belief of Drs. W. Lloyd Warner and William E. Henry of the Committee on Human Development of the University of Chicago.

By dramatizing the hopes and fears of the average American housewife, and her standards of right and wrong, the radio serial tells stories which point out good and evil in a way that ordinary people can understand, just as did the plays of the Middle Ages. People now, like those of many years ago, enjoy and benefit from this kind of drama.

Chicago and Detroit among 60 housewives whose social position and education background were generally the same. Most of the women had graduated from high school; most of them lived in average residential neighborhoods and were the wives of clerical or skilled workers. All listen regularly to the daytime serials on the radio. The majority of them prefer the serials to any other type of radio program.

Extensive interviews with the women were held, and a series of tests given, designed to show both their ways of thinking and feeling in general and their ideas and emotions about one of the popular serials, "Big Sister," a Columbia Broadcasting System program, sponsored by Procter & Gamble Co.

Contrary to the view of many people who think that such programs can only be a bore or a nuisance, it was discovered that Big Sister essentially gives the housewives a "lift." Their lives, it was found, are restricted, self-denying and unsatisfying. Demands are made of them which they are never sure they can meet, but which they consider their responsibility. Their general feeling is: "I don't think I could do anything myself to handle my life better, but I wish I could do something."

When the housewives listen to Big Sister, who is happily married and who manages successfully troublesome friends and relatives, they are in the presence of a person much like themselves but a person who always can do something.

Big Sister meets problems they understand and solves problems about which they are uncertain. She is both real and encouraging to them. Thus, through her they are able to receive casual but important entertainment which helps them to preserve American family life as we know it, the study indicated.

Inflation Tide Runs Hard Against Nation

By RADER WINGET

New York, (AP)—The tide of inflation is running hard against America again, and the cost of living is rising.

Why?

There are two answers—one simple and one complex—but they both add up to the same thing.

The simple answer is that prices are higher. You have to pay more to live today.

The complex answer goes through the entire book of economic tricks, gets mixed up in national politics and becomes entangled in international diplomacy, but it comes out the same—prices in terms of anybody's money are rising.

The cost of living expressed in terms of dollars depends upon two things, supply and demand. Supply is affected by the cost of production and the availability of raw materials. Demand is affected by the amount of spending money the consumer can get. Prices stand in the middle as a balance between supply and demand and as a gauge of the extent of inflation.

Prices aren't all going up together. Many prices are coming down. But the prices of those things the average consumer must buy to maintain an average standard of living are going up, on average.

Food is a big item there. The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index representing the price per pound of 31 foods in general use stands at $7.18, only 1.4 per cent under the all-time high set last January. Meat, on the hoof and on the plate, is setting high records.

A big prop to food prices is the parity floor the government puts under most important farm crops. Prices can go down only a certain amount. There is some talk of a downward revision, but prices meanwhile stay high.

Wages are going up, too, on average. White collar workers aren't getting as much of an increase as workers in factories. And those dependent upon fixed income, such as pensioners, are being pinched. But the total amount of spendable money in America is rising.

After General Motors broke the ice and gave a "third round" wage increase of 11 cents an hour, other motor makers followed. Most, however, gave a 13-cent boost. Some, including Ford, are still negotiating. New model prices are higher. The latest is Ford, up 8.7 per cent.

Many another industry fell in line and granted "third round" increases of varying amounts. The seemingly inevitable price increase is showing up, too. General Electric raised wages 8 per cent. Then it raised prices on some key household appliances 5 to 12 per cent. That cancelled out previous price cuts earlier this year. The reason given was higher wages and freight rates and other rising production costs.

Right now the railroads and coal mines are locked in argument with their unions over wages. If they go up, the added cost will have to be passed on to consumers of coal and users of transportation. That means higher costs for manufacturers and higher prices for their products.

In the end the consumer probably will have to pay the higher price for what he needs.

Consumers don't like high prices. In scores of retail lines the consumer has backed away and refused to buy. Shirts are the most recent example. There was a time right after the war when a veteran just demobilized couldn't get a white shirt. Prices were high and production zoomed. Last year 192,000,000 shirts were made. Prices eased off to around $3.50 for a good shirt. But men didn't buy as heavily as manufacturers anticipated.

This year they cut production but didn't cut prices. There are reports of retailers in some sections selling trade-marked shirts at less than the fixed price, and there are plenty of sales of unbranded shirts below $2. Now there are trade rumors that fixed prices on branded shirts may fall.

Despite price cutting on products bearing fixed prices under the so-called fair trade laws in 45 states, there appears to be no concrete desire on the part of manufacturers or distributors to reduce their fixed prices substantially. They say they can't because of high wages and raw materials and other advancing costs they have to bear.

The over-all question is how big is the boom, and will just as big a bust follow? Lots of people believe a little inflation is a good thing because it stimulates prices and production and wages and imparts a feeling of prosperity. Nobody agrees on how big a "little inflation" can get before it starts to topple over into a bust.

One attitude is that European recovery spending and rearmament in the United States will take up any slack in business caused by a falling off in civilian demand. Economists and businessmen are divided on the end result of piling European and military demands on top of civilian buying. Some say a "hyper-inflation" will result and wind up in one glorious bust. Others cite figures to prove all of it won't cause a ripple.

Nonetheless, some see the necessity right now for imposing rules for allocation of scarce materials, rationing of products at some point along the line of distribution from producer to consumer and price fixing something like the war-time OPA.

Meanwhile in the nation as a whole, production continues high in the post-war plateau, employment never was greater, wages never were better, there is a bull market psychology in Wall Street, and inflation is growing.

In 1800, Bedloe's Island, now site of the Statue of Liberty, was given by New York State and City to the Federal government in connection with plans to fortify New York harbor.

They let the Wives in!

The ex-GIs of our town entertained their wives the other night at one of their "feeds" of hamburger sandwiches and ice cold beer. (The girls had hinted that they'd like to see what went on when their husbands got together!)

Being wary, the boys provided chicken sandwiches and cake and cider—for those wives who might have other tastes. But though they were grateful for the choice, most of the wives agreed that hamburger sandwiches and beer were a mighty pleasant combination.

Chemicals Avert Blood Clotting

Chicago (SS)—Striking improvement in the outlook for patients with a common form of heart disease comes from the use of two modern anti-blood clotting chemicals, heparin and dicumarol.

This is the verdict of a committee of the American Heart Association after reviewing the evidence in 800 cases. It is a verdict many physicians have been awaiting before daring to use the drugs for their own patients. The committee's report was presented by its chairman, Dr. Irving S. New Fabrics Shine In Beach Fashions

By EPSIE KINARD
New York (NEA)—Fashions designed to cut a shine on the nation's beaches will take a joint bow this summer with new fabrics which enhance their appeal. Take the new bathing suits that glitter. Able literally to cut a shine are suits made of metallic fabrics. Metallic satin lastex is used, for example, to make the brief one-shoulder strap sheath, right, which owes its gleam to foil made tamish-proof by laminating between sheets of acetate rayon.

Triot knit sharkskin is a new fabric designed to enhance the eye-catching appeal of sun dresses, peddle pushers and beach coats. This newly developed fabric is a wrinkle-defying acetate rayon which is also able to resist stretching or sagging. For proof that sharkskin sacrifices no crispness by taking on these new attractions, look at the sleek beach coat, center. The crisp finish of the fabric inspired the crisp tailoring of the back-belted coat with shirt-styled cuffs and collar.

Hop-sacking, novelty basket weaves and butcher-linen will also go down to the sea this summer calling attention to the good looks and serviceability of spun rayons. Many are washable, and can be ironed when almost dry with a hot iron. One which adds this solid virtue to its fashionable attractions—the soft drapes and the luxurious feel of fabric—makes the three-piece black-and-white striped play suit, left. Play suit and separate skirt claim as their new style companion a midriff-sheathing black cummerbund.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Cotton dresses which swap last year's shoulder straps for this year's scarves and capes gain in glamor by this exchange.

Proving the point are the two fashions shown. Both dresses feature long, full skirts and bare-topped bodices corseted to stay up and to belittle a waistline.

The Frances Sider-designed plaidingham dress, left, owes its drama to a matching scarf as extravagantly fringed as a Spanish dancer's. The ensemble, right, of maize-colored chambray is a two-in-one fashion designed by Nardis of Dallas. The bow-tied ruffled cape and ruffled skirt strip down to give a girl another wardrobe item—a bare-topped sun suit with sculptured neckline and a boned bodice.

ACTIVITIESWomen Taking A
Prominent Part
In Convention

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Philadelphia, June 23 (P)—Hundreds and hundreds of women are working like beavers around the clock at this Republican convention.

A few, like former Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce, Reps. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio and Katharine St. George of New York, have formally addressed the assembled delegates. They are the bright stars in the party firmament.

There are 113 women delegates this year and 250 alternates. They attend delegation meetings and, when their political affections are pledged, are busy buttonholing prospects and selling their favorite candidates. Politicking is their fun and their job.

There is the multitude of national committeewomen—one from each state. These women have important voices in policy and politics. The convention is the national committee's show.

Mrs. Dudley Hay, Michigan committeewoman, is its secretary, right up there on the platform handling resolutions and generally greasing parliamentary machinery.

These, then, are the women who share in the spotlight and assume the responsibilities. But they represent only a fraction of the women in there pitching. The rest are volunteers, putting in formidable hours on a show for the candidates or acting as a giant hostess team for all the visiting outlanders.

Mrs. Worthington Scranton of Cranston, Pa., is official hostess of the convention. She enlisted 2,000 Republican women of the keystone state to smooth the path for delegates, their spouses and children.

Dedicated volunteers, determined to help roll their candidates into the top spot, have arrived from all over the country. They have practically taken over the campaign headquarters of the candidates.

Two Good Reasons

The theory about having women prominently around campaign headquarters is two-fold.

First, politicians are aware that in numbers women hold a potential majority of votes. Hence developing a "woman's angle" is important.

Secondly, men even when concerned with politics don't run away from pretty girls. There are lots of pretty ones around. They distribute buttons, pass out literature, dole out information, act as hostesses and listen pleasantly to visitors' complaints and gossip.

The big Dewey headquarters with 400 women volunteers is completely a distaff responsibility. The women in charge have dreamed up all manner of lures to attract the footloose convention-goer—including the something-for-nothing attraction.

Women dispense free coffee and tomato juice in the morning and free cold soft drinks most of the day. They give visitors shopping bags—advertising a certain candidate—and fill it with such assorted items as paper cigarette holders, fans, emery boards and other souvenirs. Every 200th visitor is given a better gift like nylon, a slip or cosmetics.

There Is Martha Taft

Stassen headquarters, while not completely feminine in its administration, has lots of gay young things, prettily dressed, passing helpful suggestions, persuasive literature, buttons, friendly smiles and—early in the convention 900 pounds of cheese, Wisconsin cheese that is.

The Taft headquarters, a few blocks away, has not underscored the feminine line but there are plenty of women volunteers in the office to give assists and selling talks. And, of course, the Taft camp has Martha Taft.

There seems to be only one complaint from the ladies: the acute shortage of tickets to the convention hall. It looks as though most of them will go back home without having seen any of the fun from the ringside.

Care Urged in Preparation of Food for Picnic

The picnic basket you take on your outing may be a veritable Pandora's Box, if the food in it isn't carefully prepared and properly refrigerated, the Michigan Department of Health warned today.

Outbreaks of food poisoning in Michigan are traced each year to picnics, family reunions and other packed-up meals. In the past year 300 became ill after eating potato salad; 14 after eating chicken salad sandwiches; 12 after eating cream pie; a similar number after eating pre-cooked ham, and another large group, after eating cold turkey. Many individual cases and small outbreaks of two or three cases grew out of items in the picnic basket.

Foods most often involved are salads, sandwiches, pre-cooked hams, cream and custard filled pies and held-over items. The infected foods often neither smell nor taste different than the good foods.

Food poisoning is always unpleasant and it can be fatal.

Food poisoning is caused by germs which reach food in any of a variety of ways. Some of the germs cause poisons, known as toxins as a result of growth in food, and still others invade the body directly when eaten in food.

Germs may reach the food from dirty hands, dishes, utensils, sandwich or meat boards, meat grinders, or from flies, mice and rats.

In warm weather the germs multiply so fast that food kept even an hour without proper refrigeration may be dangerous.

Heating held-over food usually is not sufficient to destroy the bacteria and poisons manufactured by the germs.

Precautions against food poisoning include personal and kitchen cleanliness and proper refrigeration. The hands, dishes, silver, meat grinder, sandwich board and the ingredients should all be clean. The ingredients should be refrigerated as soon as they are cooked and the food should be kept refrigerated until it is served.

RURAL PHONES ON INCREASE

50,000 Are Installed Since VJ-Day

Installation of the 50,000th rural telephone in its territory since VJ-day was announced today by the Michigan Bell Telephone company.

G. A. Marcouiller, manager for the company, said the gain since 1945 has brought the total number of rural telephones in Michigan Bell's telephone area to the 130,000 mark.

Pointing out that the 50,000th in since VJ-day equaled the company's entire rural "telephone population" before the war, Marcouiller said the relative demand for service in farm areas today is ahead of that in urban centers. "The extent of that demand is shown by the fact that we started the year 1947 with 12,000 on the waiting list in our rural territory and ended the year with 19,000— an increase of 16,000 in the number of rural telephones in service during the year," Marcouiller said.

The heavy rural demand was attributed by Theodore H. Dawson, head of Michigan Bell's farm-line development program, to the company's liberal construction plan under which farm lines are being built and to improved rural service, together with the known increase in farm income.

Under a plan established in 1940 and further liberalized two years ago, no charge is made for construction up to one-half mile of farm line. Thus, telephone service is available to 85 per cent of the rural families in the company's territory without any construction charge.

Dawson also cited the extension of dial service in rural areas and a reduction in overloaded farm lines. The company's two objectives, he said, is to achieve 100 per cent dial operation and to reduce the number of parties on rural lines to a maximum of eight. Today, only 14 per cent of Michigan Bell rural lines have more than that number.

Parkway Trees Are Given DDT Bath

Escanaba's parkway trees are being sprayed with DDT, City Forester Bob Clayton reported this noon. The spraying has been completed on South 17th, 18th and 19th streets.

A mild solution of DDT is being used, consisting of six pounds of 50% DDT to 500 gallons of water. It is not dangerous to birds, dogs, cats, squirrels or house pets, Clayton said, but it is effective against insects.

Clayton reported heavy infestations of spring canker worms and aphids.

Truman May Call Congress To Fill Platform Promises

BY FRANCIS M. LEMAY

Convention Hall, Philadelphia, June 23 (AP)—The Republican convention today unanimously adopted a 1948 platform looking toward world cooperation for peace and the defeat of Communism at home.

The statement of party principles calls for civil rights legislation—anti-lynch; anti-poll tax; non-segregation in the armed forces. These measures, when proposed to Congress by President Truman, split the Democratic party apart.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, resolutions committee chairman, presented the 2,400-word document to the convention as "a forthright, forward-looking guide to the American future." He said it is the shortest platform in GOP annals, but "it says a mouthful."

The platform was adopted by a shouted vote of acclamation. Not a no was heard in the big hall.

Senator Vandenberg called the foreign plank "magnificent." Governor Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen said they hadn't had a chance to study the entire platform in detail but gave it their blessing. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he liked especially the public housing and civil rights planks.

The next big question is this: Will President Truman call the Republican-controlled Congress into special session this summer with a message challenging the GOP lawmakers to carry out the party's platform promises?

The president has called this the "second worst" Congress in history. He has the power to call it back anytime. And some politicians think he may exercise that power.

These might be some of the issues put before the lawmakers: Inflation—The GOP platform, charging that the Democratic administration has "deliberately encouraged higher prices," pledged an attack on inflation with reduced government costs, stimulation of factory output, debt reduction and a sound currency.

Mr. Truman called Congress into special session last fall with anti-inflation legislation as one of his chief objectives. The Republicans, however, turned down his bid for standby power to reimpose price, rationing and wage controls and passed instead a voluntary anti-inflation measure.

Housing—The president has called for legislation embodying vast government aids for home-building, including government construction of low-rent houses.

The Senate passed such a bill, under the sponsorship of Senator Taft. But it died after some House Republicans called the public housing sections "a key to Socialism."

The new platform says "We recommend federal aid to the states for local slum clearance and low-rental housing programs only where there is a need that cannot be met either by private enterprise or by the states and localities."

Social security—The 1944 Republican platform and Mr. Truman called for extension of old age insurance and unemployment benefits to all working people not already covered. Congress has not broadened the coverage.

The new platform says, "Consistent with the vigorous existence of our competitive economy, we urge: Extension of the federal old age and survivors' insurance program and increase of the benefits to a more realistic level." Mr. Truman proposed that the benefits be increased by at least 50 per cent.

Civil rights—The 1944 Republican platform and Mr. Truman have called for about the same thing—anti-lynch, anti-poll tax and anti-discrimination legislation. No bill on this subject got through Congress.

The new platform calls for federal outlawing of lynching and poll taxes, and "the equality of all individuals in their right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." It does not specifically call for a fair employment practice commission.

Government Grants General Pardon To Huks in Philippines

Manila, June 23 (AP)—The government wrote out a general pardon today for the armed peasants known as Huks (Hukbalahaps) and the National Peasants' Union.

President Quirico extended the amnesty. Both Houses of Congress approved it.

It promised the end of two years of civil strife in which an estimated 50,000 Huks backed up demands for land reform with guns.

The Huk leader, Luis Taruc, who gave himself up, remained in technical arrest. The government's next job is to disarm his followers. Manila newspapers reported hundreds had surrendered their arms already.

Premature Babies May Be Below Par

New York, (SS)—Prematurely born children are fairly often below par mentally, Dr. Douglas P. Murphy, University of Pennsylvania obstetrician, told the American Orthopsychiatric Association here.

"It is not surprising to the obstetrician," he said, "to learn that mental deficiency occurs with relatively high frequency among prematurely born children."

All the body cells of the prematurely born baby are underdeveloped, he explained. This applies particularly to the premature baby's brain cells which coordinate breathing movements. If these cells are underdeveloped they may not be able to withstand the depressing effects of sedatives given to the mother to ease her labor pains.

The premature baby's head, furthermore, is less able to withstand the forces of labor than the head of the full-term infant.

Vandenberg Set To Be Nominated

The reference was to Joe Grundy, long-time Republican political power in Pennsylvania. Stassen also said the aim of the stop-Dewey forces is to get an "open convention"—meaning one where the delegates would make their decisions on the convention floor.

Ohioan Hopeful
Both Stassen and Taft professed to believe Dewey is stopped. Taft predicted Dewey will not have as many as 400 votes on the second ballot, and added: "I think the second will be his highest."

It will take 548 votes to win the nomination. The Ohioan said he believes his total will begin to climb from the second ballot on and that he will be nominated on about the fourth or fifth ballot.

Taft said the series of conferences he has been holding with other candidates has two purposes. The first, he added, is to make sure that every delegation will be able to carry out its original plan without being subjected to what he called a Dewey "blitz."

He said the second purpose is to find out whether there is any possibility of the coalition agreeing on some one candidate. He said there had been no agreement on that point, but that it would be discussed further at this afternoon's session.

For the first time in the big hall here, Vandenberg banners put in an appearance. A truck drove up with a load of them soon after Sigler announced he had the Michigan senator's consent to put his name before the convention.

Boost from Missouri
Vandenberg, stuck by his stand that he is not actively seeking the nomination. But Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan said he had obtained the senator's consent for him to put up his name.

Dewey's drive got another push, this time from Missouri. Senator James P. Kem, chairman of the Missouri delegation, said: "I have decided to support Governor Dewey. I look forward to his nomination on an early ballot. I believe he will be the next president of the United States."

Even before Kem's announcement, an Associated Press check indicated Dewey would get 18 of Missouri's 33 votes on the first ballot with others split among three or four candidates.

Asked if he was nominating Vandenberg in the belief Vandenberg can win or as a gesture of respect, Sigler replied, "If I didn't honestly believe there was real hope of winning I would not nominate him."

Sigler made the announcement after Vandenberg had put in his first appearance at the Michigan headquarters.

These workers for the nomination for Vandenberg have been discouraged by his aloof attitude and the senator made an apologetic little speech.

"I know I am a problem child for you," he told the Michigan group, "but I set my course a year ago and must steer it to the finish."

He said a year ago that he would not seek the nomination, but would not refuse it if it were offered.

The Taft-Stassen moves to head off Dewey kept their backers in an almost continuous round of conferences. The principals themselves were meeting.

With speeches over, the convention would be ready for the whirlwind of delegates that always greet the mention of the name of the man who—

Ovation For Hoover
The delegates had their first taste of it last night when they went on a yelling, stamping, marching, music-blaring binge in honor of former President Herbert Hoover.

It lasted 14 minutes and was about the biggest cheer since 1932 the GOP had mustered for its only living ex-president. The Republicans all looked happy about it.

Hoover told the convention that to overload this country with too much foreign aid and armaments would be to play "Stalin's game." House Speaker Joseph Martin, still a presidential hopeful, took over the gavel as permanent chairman to the tune of another dim.

Martin lashed out at the "bumbling and bumbling" of the Truman administration in the cold war.

Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois stepped out of the picture as the temporary chairman and keynoter. But he continued to figure in speculation as a possible running mate for Dewey if the latter can make his early ballot blitz work.

Dewey was first of those to be placed in nomination. His record was to be recited by Senator Martin, whose public conversion to the cause hit the convention with the force of what one Dewey leader described as "an improved atomic bomb."

Martin, no orator, was to be followed by seconders. The Dewey forces hoped to produce another favorite son, possibly Halleck, in one of these roles.

Bricker Is Orator
Next on the list was a man who has had some experience in making convention delegates get up on their feet and howl—Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio. He was ready to offer Taft's name.

Bricker was so gone on the oratorical uptake when he was running in his own right in 1944 that he landed second place on the Dewey ticket. There was even some convention floor talk of him as a possible running mate this

MANISTIQUE

J. R. LOWELL
Manager

Former Manager Dickson Replies To 3 Councilmen

James Dickson, who resigned as city manager of Manistique recently after a controversy with three members of the city council, today issued a statement in reply to charges made by Councilmen Sellman, Berger and Schubring.

The statement follows: I wonder how much the understanding people of Manistique are believing as to the sincerity of Sellman, Berger and Schubring with reference to their statement on the "Dickson Affair."

I am also wondering what person with an assemblage of training had conceded to assist these ignorant men in assembling those cunning deceitful generalities. What is the true purpose behind these men? Do they mean to infer that they have more foresight, understanding and character to offer Manistique than such men as A. Heitman, Walter Burns and Lester Richards, who preceded them in setting council policies? You should study the comparison of personalities, accomplishments, background and relative qualifications and decide for yourself.

Such conceit and vanity as is inferred in the following quotation from their statement must be the outgrowth of simple stupidity as well as ignorance—"We don't have to tell the public what has been taking place in Manistique during the past four or five years. The city has been operating and that's about all that can be said about it!" Does Bill Sellman and his two simple "stooges" expect to set Manistique's "world on fire" now that the opportunity exists for his complete control? All he had ever shown me at the council table in the past year and one-half is passive resistance and undertone grumbling. Not once has he presented any constructive plan or visited me at the office for the purpose of talking over an improvement program. Bill Sellman, what is your master plan for the City of Manistique? Why don't you tell the taxpayers this plan you refer to as "That at one time placed us among the foremost of Upper Peninsula Municipalities?"

The only apparent master plan on record in the city hall to my knowledge is one authorized by the old council in 1945 for design of streets, sewers and water prepared under contract by Francis Engineering Co., a most reliable firm operating throughout the central states with offices at Saginaw, Michigan. The latest contract with this firm was drawn up in June, 1946, almost five months before I became city manager. It is really too bad that some previous councilmen during the earlier years of Manistique and in times when construction costs were less formidable had not had the foresight to authorize a comprehensive master plan such as is now on file at the city hall for future use in development. If this had been done the statement referring to the so-called "slip shod" Streets, Alleys, Sewers and Water Mainenance expensive problems would not now exist.

As to the misstatement made by Sellman, Berger and Schubring regarding the $15,000 paid to an outside engineering firm—(name) Francis Engineering) you may get the true facts from the City Treasurer through inquiry. This statement is either a deliberate deceiving lie or an indication of stupid ignorance of the fine points of City Affairs. The true figures are as follows:

1. Total paid for completed master plans on hand $11,540.63
2. State grants given Manistique aid for master planning 4,488.75

Total cost of this planning to Manistique of approximately another $615.00. Reimbursement is still expected from the State of Michigan, thereby reducing the present outlay to approximately $6,436.00 which is some difference from $15,000 reported to have been paid. This spending for master plans is in line with what progressive cities are doing everywhere. I could quote you cities who have a City Manager and City Engineer, both registered, who are following the same policy. A City Manager has neither the time or technical facilities to spend in continued interrupted specialized design of master plans today with the demands for interviews and checking of various department needs. This is not only my opinion, but that of management generally.

Even Bill Sellman can tell you from the record that your city pavements were designed in 1937 for a standard charge to the City by a Mr. Goddard, a Consultant Engineer from L'Anse, Michigan during the period when Phil Beauvais was City Manager.

The fact remains that the master plans are good and can be progressively followed if and when Manistique is in a position financially to carry them out. Some of the recommended new sewer extensions and blacktop street grades have already been followed.

I note further in these men's statement that my qualifications

Harry Chenoweth Dies in Newberry
Newberry — Harry Chenoweth, 70, died at his home at 7:40 a. m. Tuesday, after a short illness. He was born January 22, 1878 at Lynn, Indiana. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War. He was associated with the Brown Lumber Company having come with that firm from Traverse City to Manistique. He retired in 1945. Mr. Chenoweth resided in Manistique from 1916 until 1947 when he and his wife moved to Newberry and established their residence at McMillan Avenue.

The survivors are his wife, Lona, three daughters, Gladys, Retke, of Newberry; Doris Kreitzer of Kalamazoo and Edna Chenoweth of Detroit. Four grandchildren survive, as well as three brothers, Porter Chenoweth of Lynn, Indiana; Ernest Chenoweth of Mt. Vernon, Washington and Ollie Chenoweth of West Manchester, Ohio. Two sisters, Mrs. Leo Horn of Union City, Indiana; and Mrs. T. C. Love of Richmond, Indiana.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Beaulieu funeral home with Rev. William Schilling, officiating. Burial in the Forest Home cemetery.

DEPUTY KILLED

year, if Dewey can crash through again.

Third on the list was Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California, ready to nominate Warren.

Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan said he might, or might not, formally nominate Vandenberg. Despite the failure of the Draft-Vandenberg campaign to gain speed, the Michigan Senator remained one of the logical compromise candidates of any stop-Dewey combination.

Vandenberg gave his followers nothing to follow. He dined last night with John Foster Dulles, also a good friend of Dewey, but made no attempt to meet New Jersey's Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, a possible roofer.

2. Establishment of a vacation and sick leave plan for all city employees.
3. Improvement of the City Hall to include reconditioning of the jail, front and main office.
4. Installation of 50 odd water and sewer services.
5. The setting up of an adequate repair and preventive maintenance system for all city motor equipment so that it could be depended upon in time of need—especially snow removal.
6. Repair and drainage to the city pumping station basement and area.
7. Cleaning and reconditioning of all stopped and unserviceable water meters including the discovery of 25 odd patrons, who had never previously paid for water received.
8. Preparation of new water regulations requiring specific inspections and installation methods.
9. 12 city blocks of blacktop resurface completed.
10. Miscellaneous main sewer and water extensions including North 4th street and the preparation of plans and materials for further extensions including the New Elm street Lift Station which never materialized as was planned for June 15, 1948.
11. The sealing, cleaning and painting of the city water tower.
12. Miscellaneous improvements such as replacement of the collapsed outfall sewer into the river at the paper mill and under Soo Line RR tracks, improvement of both cemeteries together with the cemetery house and various improvements in the maintenance of signs, alleys and garbage services.

In summing up my answer to the statement of Sellman, Berger, and Schubring, I wish to remind them that even though they may represent some of the people in their recent violation of the City Charter by subterfuge, they cannot hope to gain much for Manistique as a city if they continue to persist in cross purpose with the rest of the council members and fail to develop some degree of integrity necessary to uphold their City Charter regardless of personal feelings.

I humbly and sincerely thank the Manistique people for their recent thoughtful support of the issue at hand. Your government will improve only as that interest improves. I hope you will know all the facts before your interest subsidies and will be able to do what is necessary to keep a sound current financial structure. The past council and management has sincerely attempted to keep those principals uppermost with a degree of success in spite of severe rising costs. There are many serious needs which will cost far in excess of funds immediately at hand. A four million dollar corporation such as Manistique should not be overlooked by its stockholders—only the best qualified are worthy to sit on that council for you and be entrusted with such an investment. You must know that hereafter those of you who in the past have failed to exercise your rights as a citizen, should remember hereafter to cast that all important vote.

Sincerely,
James D. Dickson

City Is Without Electric Power
Tuesday Morning

Manistique and vicinity were without electric current for about fifteen or twenty minutes Tuesday morning, but few people would have been aware of the had not electric clocks been way off schedule.

Information from the local office was to the effect that a pole near the power plant at Sault Ste. Marie had burnt, causing a break in the entire system between here and that point leaving the area between those two points without electric power for a considerable period of time.

At Manistique the inconvenience lasted but a few minutes as the local standby unit was put into use as soon as the transfer could be made. This necessitated curtailment to a certain extent of regular operations at the paper mill.

Last Thursday, early in the evening, a breakdown in the main power plant at the Soo disrupted the service over the entire system for a long period. The power company there had to switch operations to the steam unit at the Soo and this required delays. At Manistique, however, the switch-over to the local power unit took only about fifteen minutes.

Former Lutheran
Pastor Here Is Noted Translator

The Rev. Gustave A. Herbert, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, who has just returned from the 100 year anniversary celebration of the Augustana Lutheran synod, at Rock Island, Ill., tells of honors paid there to the Rev. Augustus Nelson, for fifteen years pastor of the local congregation.

Rev. Nelson's fiftieth anniversary of his ordination was an occasion of special moment, made all the more impressive by the fact that he was the only survivor of a class of ten who were ordained in Galesburg, Ill., on June 5, 1898.

But the venerable pastor's claim to prominence and worthiness in the cause for which he labored was noted also from the fact that he has contributed much to the hymnody of that particular faith.

When the English language began to supplant the Swedish in Augustana Lutheran churches, Rev. Nelson realized that there was danger that some of the most cherished Swedish hymns might lose favor and be lost to coming generations, so he set about translating them. As a result of this effort, many old Lutheran hymns have been added to the church's English psalm books. The language employed is simple and the meaning of the Swedish versions has been faithfully conveyed in the translation.

At last Sunday's services at Zion Lutheran church one of the most beloved of these hymns, "Jesus, Come Abide With Me," was sung in the venerable pastor's honor by the congregation.

To Chrysler Workers: So you "struck" and were idle 17 days, and "won" a raise from $1.50 to $1.63 or 13c an hour. Another of "Labor's Gains." Let's figure it out.

At 13c an hour, or $1.04 per day "gained", it will take 75,000 men 196 days or 8 months just to "make up" the $15,300,000 loss.

BUT, $15,300,000 is only A SMALL PART of the loss to "workers". Chrysler turns out 5000 cars and trucks per day or 85,000 in 17 days, worth at least $85,000,000.00, and that production loss can't be "made up" because 17 idle days are gone forever.

There is a persistent idea that only the "Man in overalls" is a "Worker."

MURDERED MAN
ONCE HELD HEREMan Knifed At Muskegon
Here Month Ago

Savas Frevino, 19, a Mexican youth, who recently served a term in the county jail here for theft of gasoline, was stabbed to death in a brawl at Muskegon, according to a recent Associate Press news dispatch from that place.

The news report was brief, stating that the young man was knifed by Thomas Martinez, 42, in a quarrel over a girl.

Frevino and a companion were arrested here about two months ago when former sheriff, Jack Hewitt, came upon the youths just as they were running across the field of his farm with gasoline which they had stolen from his tank. For this act the pair were given 30-day sentences. Charges were pressed against the youths for driving a car belonging to a Fargo, N. D. man without his permission. This charge was dropped when investigation disclosed that the car owner had been involved in misconduct involving one of the Mexicans.

The pair had been released from the local jail after they had served their sentence and had signified their intention of going to Lower Michigan to work in beet fields.

America's Political Show Window

EVERY four years the American public gets a major dose of politics. The quadrennial dosage includes the nomination of candidates for President of the United States. At the national conventions where party choices are made, the settings, the routines have been pretty much the same ever since 1832 when three parties—the Democratic, National Republican and the Anti-Masonic—held the nation's first. There were the delegates pouring into a huge auditorium, perspiring and squirming through hot summer sessions. There were the chairmen pounding for order, the roll-call of the state delegations, the flags, the bunting, the reporters—and in more recent years, the photographers. In early days, the cheers were reported as "huzzahs," women trailing long trains waved fans and threw flowers from the balconies, bands preceded delegates in their march to the convention hall and guns roared salutes to the nominees. A new billing is in the offing; there will be a new set of actors, a few new twists in the performance—like television—but all the attendant excitement will remain the same. Here's a glimpse of convention days in the last century.

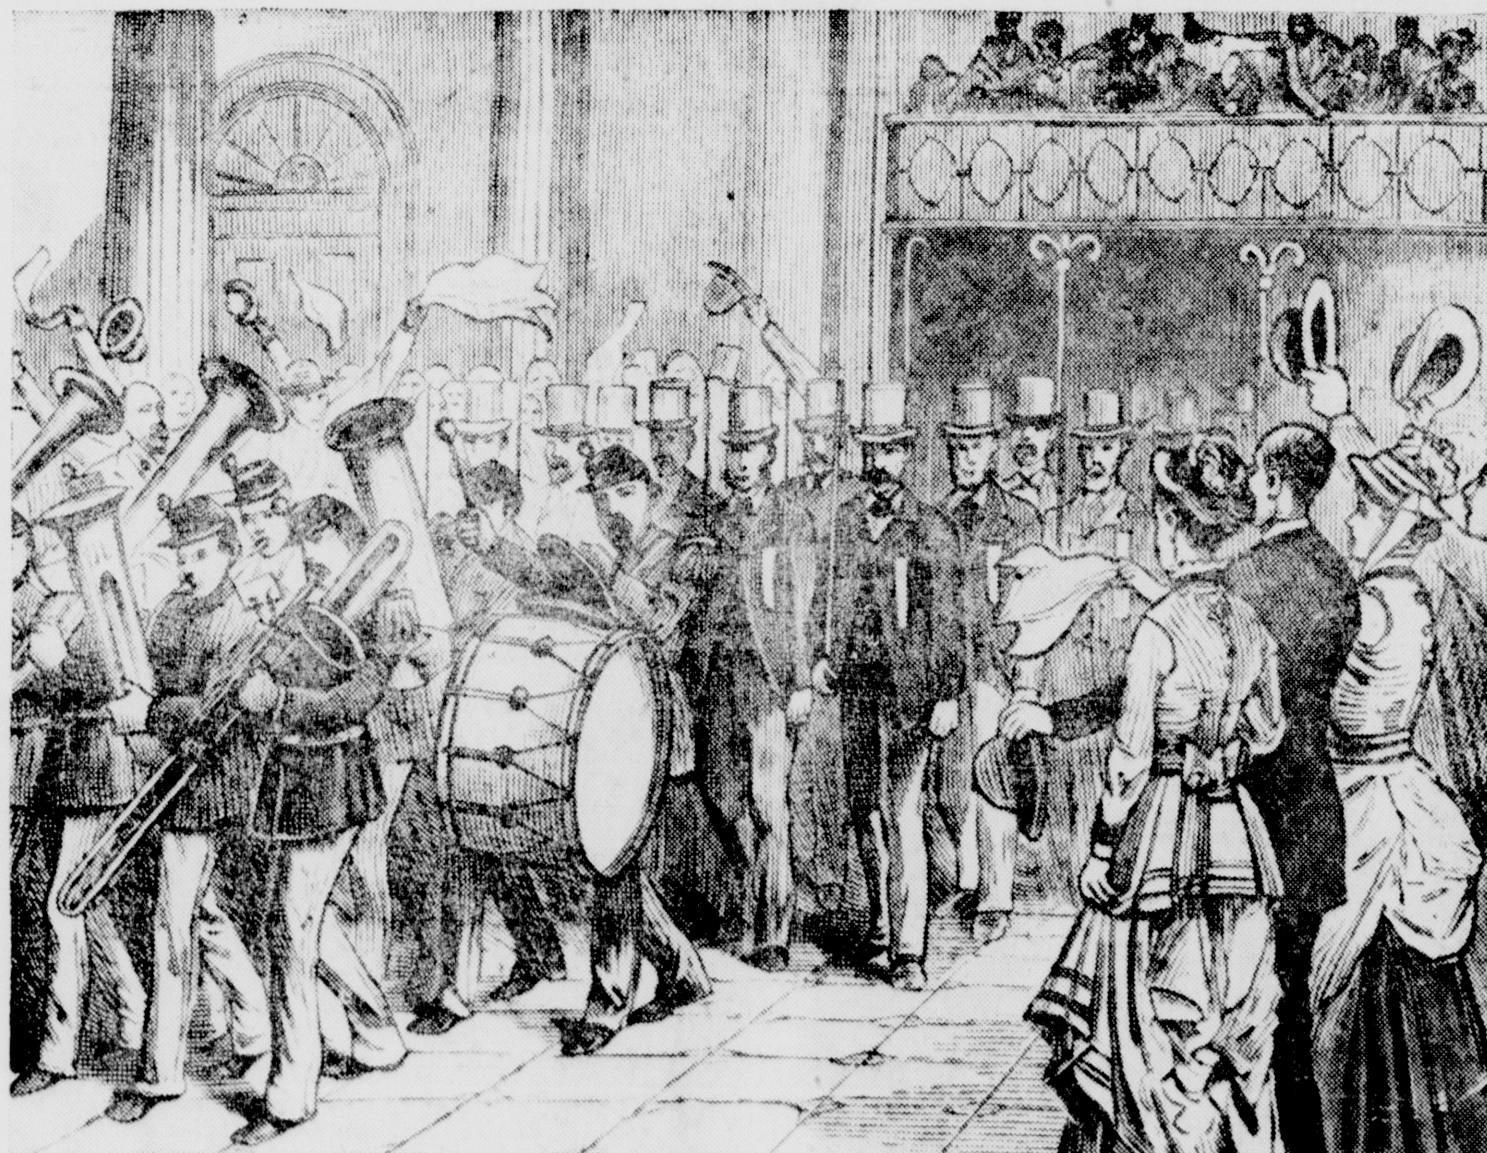

REPUBLICAN'S FIRST. Scene outside Philadelphia's Musical Fund Hall, where Republican party held first convention, June 17, 1856, nominated Gen. John Fremont, Mexican war veteran.

TAMMANY HALL was host to the Democratic national convention in New York in 1868. Nominee was Horatio Seymour.

DEMONSTRATION at Republican 1880 convention in Chicago when James A. Garfield was nominated on the 36th ballot.

MUSICAL INTERLUDE. Preceded by a brass band, members of Philadelphia's Randall Club made the rounds of hotels in Cincinnati where Democrats held their convention in 1880 and nominated Winfield S. Hancock.

BUSTLING scene outside Chicago's Exposition Hall where the Republicans convened in 1884 and nominated James G. Blaine.

CONVENTION DAY—1896. Chicago hotel lobby seethed with excitement when word came from convention hall that Democrats had nominated William Jennings Bryan.

THREE CHEERS! Delegates rose and acclaimed William McKinley when chairman announced unanimous renomination of the President at the Republican convention in Philadelphia, 1900. Teddy Roosevelt was named as running mate.

PICTURE HASN'T CHANGED. A convention city hotel, filled with cigar smoke, backslappers and political chatter, such as this one in the 80's, has remained very much the same through the years.

BIRDS and badges adorned delegate at Democratic convention, 1888.

FIREWORKS LAW CUTS TRAGEDIES

July 4 Safe Except For Traffic, Drownings

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
AP Newsfeature Writer

Chicago—More than half of the U. S. population is covered by state fireworks control laws for this year's Independence Day.

Laws have been enacted in 19 states—most of them in the last ten years. As the number of states with such statutes has grown, the number of deaths and injuries have dropped.

Hundreds of Americans were killed and thousands were hurt on July 4 in the horse and buggy era.

Pleas for a "safe and sane" celebration began to reach the public in the early 1900's. Many cities adopted curbs. These were good as far as they went. But they didn't stop the sale of explosives beyond the city limits.

Experts then decided the best way to solve the problem was by state action. The National Fire Protection Association drafted a model law in 1938. It was based on laws already in force in Iowa, Michigan and New Jersey.

The law prohibits the sale and use of fireworks except in authorized public displays. Violators are subject to fines up to $100 and jail terms up to 90 days.

The association reports laws of this type now are on the books of Arizona, California, Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, and West Virginia.

American Medical Association records show that the nation's casualty toll dropped as more states put the ban into effect. In 1938 there were 18 deaths and 7,933 injuries. In 1946 there were six deaths and 903 injuries.

"The states with the most striking improvement since 1941 are California, Massachusetts, Ohio, and Rhode Island," says the National Safety Council.

The changing pattern can be seen in the Associated Press survey of sudden death on the three-day Independence Day holiday last year. There were 546 fatalities. Traffic accidents cost 264 lives and 114 victims drowned. The five persons who were killed by fireworks represented less than one per cent of the total.

Film On Children's Home to be Shown at Brotherhood Meeting

A motion picture on the famous Children's Home founded 45 years ago at New Britain, Conn., is to be shown at a public meeting of the Baptist Brotherhood next Monday night at the First Baptist church, Rev. Bertil Friberg announces.

It will be presented by the Rev. Haddon E. Klingberg of New Britain, son of the home's founder, the late Dr. J. E. Klingberg. Rev. Klingberg is now the president and director of the home.

The home was founded by John Klingberg, who during the forty years he operated the home received around $2,000,000 in gifts yet never asked for a cent. More than 1100 orphans have been cared for in the home, the physical assets of which are valued at over a half million dollars and are debt free.

The home's founder was a firm believer in the value of prayer and five years ago was the subject of a story condensed from the Kiwanis Magazine appearing in the Readers Digest entitled "The Home That Prayer Built."

During its existence the home has not been connected with any church or organization. Swedish Baptist clergymen have shown a friendly interest in the home and have spread the story to all parts of the nation.

There will be special music and refreshments will be served. Donald Nelson will preside.

Friberg to Witch Lake was Mrs. Friberg, who presented a vocal solo during ceremonies. Danny Friberg and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Goodman.

Louis-Walcott Bout Delayed By Weather Until Thursday Night

New York, June 23 (AP)—The Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott fight was postponed until tomorrow night in Yankee stadium because of rain and threatening weather.

Although Promoter Mike Jacobs announced at the noon weigh-in he would wait until 3:30 p. m. to make up his mind, he reached a decision quickly when it began to rain a few minutes later.

Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis weighed 213½ pounds at noon for his 25th—and he says his last—title defense, now scheduled for Thursday night.

Chairman Eddie Egan of the New York State Athletic commission talked at length with both fighters, outlining instructions for the championship scrap.

Louis, deadpan as usual, managed a smile or two during a long session with photographers. Walcott smiled throughout the picture-taking.

The 213½ pounds was the most Louis ever weighed for a title fight. His previous high was 211½ pounds against Tami Mauriello, a quarter-pound over his weight for the first meeting with Walcott last December.

Walcott weighed 194½ pounds when he dropped a close decision to the Champion in their initial battle.

Royce Park Has Three Horseshoe Courts Available

Three horseshoe courts with full equipment are now available at Royce park, the city recreation department announces.

If sufficient interest in the sport, leagues will be formed and inter-club matches arranged with Gladstone horseshoe tossers.

A short meeting will be held at the Royce park courts at 7:30 Saturday evening to make plans for the season and to arrange for any form of competition desired by the majority. Players are asked to register at the playground or by telephoning 1347.

Junior Softball Meetings Friday

Postponed by rain, Escanaba junior softball meetings will be held Friday, with the junior high diamond meeting set for 10 a. m. and the Webster park meeting set for 2 p. m. All boys interested in playing are asked to attend.

A week of practice games will be held from June 23 to July 2. All teams must be registered at the Youth Center by Friday noon.

Members of the Escanaba Figure Skating club and other interested persons are invited to attend a showing of color motion pictures taken at the Escanaba Ice Revue of 1948 at the recreation center at 8 Thursday evening. The pictures were taken by Father Roland Dion of Flat Rock and are said to be "excellent."

Pitching—Harry Brecheen, Cardinals—Scattered eight Boston hits to register his eighth victory, 5-2, and his seventh at night. He has lost two.

THIRD INNING STRETCH — Ed Stevens wasn't good enough for the Dodgers, but he stretches for the Pirates. Bobby Thomson is out in the third inning as the Pittsburgh club sweeps a three-game series with the Giants at the Polo Grounds. The umpire is Bill Stewart.

.400 Batter, .800 Pitcher Hard To Beat!

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer
National League clubs are finding out that a team blessed with a .400 batter and an .800 pitcher is tough to beat.

It was this combination that paved the way for the 5-2 victory the St. Louis Cardinals hung upon the league-leading Braves in Boston last night, and boosted the Redbirds right back into the fight for the flag.

The first half of the combination—Slashing Stan Musial—stroked five consecutive singles to zoom his league-leading batting average to .403. His fifth hit came in the ninth with the bases loaded to drive in a couple of mates and snap a 2-2 tie.

The other half—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen—won his eighth game of the year. He has lost two. It also marked his seventh victory in eight decisions under the lights this year.

The triumph moved the third place Cards to within a game and a half behind the league leaders. The Redbirds trail the second place Pittsburgh Pirates by half a game.

The American League pace-setters, the Cleveland Indians, whipped New York 5-2 in Cleveland to increase their margin over the runner-up Yankees to three and a half games.

Joe Di Maggio whacked three hits including his 16th home run, tying the American League home run leadership with Ken Keltner of the Indians.

Danny Litwiler's 10th inning home run with Hank Sauer on base gave the Cincinnati Reds a 6-4 victory over the Phillies in a night game in Philadelphia. Earlier in the game, Sauer had smashed his 21st home run of the season, a record total for a righthanded Cincinnati batter.

Earl Wooten's first major league homer gave the Washington Senators a 5-4 victory over the Tigers in a night game at Detroit.

A four-run eighth inning helped the Philadelphia Athletics beat the St. Louis Browns 7-6.

The Boston Red Sox came from behind to club the White Sox 11-6 in a night game in Chicago.

The scheduled games between the Chicago Cubs and Giants in New York and the Pirates and Dodgers in Brooklyn were postponed because of rain.

Defeats As Well As Victories Come In Bunches for Tigers

Detroit, June 23 (AP)—Defeats as well as victories come in strings for the Detroit Tigers.

After riding close to third place on six straight wins, the Bengals have taken four consecutive beatings and sunk well into the second division. Their latest loss came 5 to 4 last night at the hands of the Washington Senators, whose hard hitting made up for some sloppy fielding.

Today Manager Steve O'Neill of the faltering Detroiters sent Paul (Dizzy) Trout to the mound in an effort to crack the Tigers' defense. He was opposed by Walter Masterson of Washington. Last night's defeat was the ninth for Art Houtteman, who seemed headed for his third win until he went to pieces in the seventh. In that frame he blew a 2 to 0 lead, permitting five hits and four runs.

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

In view of Dean Cromwell's statement that America will win the Olympic track and field championship this summer with room to spare, more interest than ever is being shown in the U. S. Olympic final games to be held in Dyche stadium, Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., July 9 and 10.

For months now you've been reading about the exploits of Charley Foulke, Fortune Gordien, Harrison Dillard, Mel Patton, Lloyd LaBeach and other outstanding American track athletes. The United States will have a well-balanced squad with a good distribution of talent in both track and field events.

These and a host of other stars will be in Evanston July 9 and 10 when the U. S. Olympic track and field team will be picked from hundreds of the greatest collegiate and AAU athletes of the nation. It will be the greatest sports event at Northwestern's Dyche stadium in more than a decade.

On July 11, the winners at Evanston will leave for London to represent the United States in the XIV Olympiad. If Cromwell is right, the U. S. will win 12 of the 24 track and field events. It will be interesting to see how close he comes to this prediction.

Incidentally, tickets for the Evanston show July 9 and 10 may be procured through the Chicago Daily News, 400 West Madison, Chicago 6. One Escanaba track fan who already has parted with a two-buck to see the American Olympic finals is Dick Schram, who came within an ace of making Uncle Sam's Olympic team as a pole vaulter in the 1930s. He was a 13-foot plus vaulter.

No time like the present to impart a few sound swimming tips. You'll be alive next fall if you follow these few general rules, and that's rather nice to look forward to.

Be sure you are physically fit for swimming. Allow at least two hours to elapse after eating before entering the water.

Never swim without at least one companion who is either swimming with you or watching and is capable of helping.

Do not dive or jump in until the water has been thoroughly explored and proved free from danger.

Never swim more than a few feet in water over your head unless accompanied by a boat manned by two persons.

Never take foolish chances in or around the water: never call "help" unless you mean it, and never pretend to be drowning.

If a leg or arm cramp develops, call for help and float quietly until assisted or until the cramp leaves.

Do not swim after dark. Do not swim under water. Get out of the water when chilled or tired.

Oarsmen Claim Rowing Is Most Rugged Of All

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.,

New York, June 22 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott has boxed 110 rounds and done about 350 miles of roadwork since he began training for Joe Louis ten weeks ago.

Louis has worked almost as hard in preparation for his heavyweight title defense... yet 70 miles up the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie are a bunch of guys who'd say they're a pair of sissies.

Oarsmen claim that the toughest of all athletic contests is a rowing race and they've shortened the intercollegiate test at Poughkeepsie to three miles, from four, because post-war oarsmen aren't up to the longer grind.

Certainly they spend more hours in training than any fighter or football player... Our guess is that either Louis or Walcott would fold up in less than a mile of rowing in a varsity shell and that not one of the 88 oarsmen in the eleven varsity boats at Poughkeepsie could stand up for a full round against either of the Joes.

We can't think of a greater contrast than the finish of a regatta in the shadows along the Hudson and a heavyweight fight under the glaring Yankee stadium lights—but we wouldn't miss either event.

Let's You and Him Fight

Eleven years ago today, Joe Louis won the heavyweight boxing title from Jimmy Braddock. Tomorrow, weather permitting, he'll defend it for the 25th time.

That's eight more than the total number of title defenses by Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey, Primo Carnera, Max Baer and Jim Braddock—Joe's predecessors... Louis was the youngest man ever to win the heavyweight title; he already has held it longer than any other champion, and when he finally loses it he'll be one of the oldest men to drop the championship.

Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Johnson were 37 when they were dethroned and Jess Willard was 36... If anybody cares, there's a heavyweight in Camden, N. J., who uses the name of "Jersey Joe Louis." That's splitting it right down the middle.

Howard of Hearing

Frank Howard, Clemson football coach, turned up at an alumni meeting recently and said he would show some football movies... Immediately an unidentified voice asked: "Which game is he going to show?" And another, also unidentified, replied: "You know; he'll show the game he won."

The first voice asked: "Where's he going to get it?" Howard pounced on the fumble: "I've got the answer," he said. "I'm going to show you the one we couldn't lose. We coached both teams—our spring practice game."

DROBNY DRUBBED

London, June 23 (AP)—Officials had a jammed program in the Wimbledon tennis championships today, seeking to catch up on matches postponed by yesterday's showers. Mostly it will be doubles, but there will be a smattering of singles.

Most of the fireworks yesterday was provided by Gianni Cucelli of Italy, who eliminated the Czechoslovakian Davis Cup star, Jaroslav Drobny.

possibly in September, after Louis' quick first-round knockout of challenger Max Schmeling for heavyweight championship.

Washington Crew Good Olympic Bet

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—The Huskies from the University of Washington were a good choice for Uncle Sam's Olympic team today.

Yesterday they took all three races in the 46th Poughkeepsie regatta, winning the varsity, junior varsity and fresh eight-oared crew conflicts.

It was the greatest day for Washington on the Hudson river since 1936-37 when the westerners previously swept all Poughkeepsie trophies.

It was an Olympic omen, too—Washington winning the works this year. Because the husky shell that took part in the 1936 sweep went on to take the U. S. tryouts and the world championship in the Berlin games.

In Memoriam
To the beautiful memory of our dearly beloved son and brother, Leonard D. Derouin, who was killed four years ago, June 23, 1944.

We seem to see in the soft dim light, A face we loved the best, And think of him when the sun's last day is in the far off west; We miss him no less as the time passes on Than we did on the day of his going, For absence can never close the door of our hearts. And the lamp of our love is still glowing. His heart was the truest in all the wide world; His love the best to recall; For no one on earth could take his place. He is still the dearest of all.

Lovingly remembered by MR. AND MRS. ALBERT DEROUIN AND CHILDREN.

G.O.P. PARLEY LIKE CARNIVAL

Derby, Fair And Boxing
Camp Combined

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Philadelphia.—There was an angel standing in front of the Dewey camp on Broad street. Her wings flapped gently in the brisk breeze. The star that perched over her brow quivered, too, and her celestial robes rustled.

She had her feet crossed, and she was puffing on a cigaret.

Personally, I never saw an angel smoking a cigaret in Philadelphia, before, and I suppose very few of the throng around the Bellevue-Stratford had ever seen an angel smoking a cigaret. But nobody paid her any mind, although she was a pretty blonde angel, and her robe clasped her torso like a sweater. The crowd kept milling, intent on its own aimless purpose, and few people were curious enough to stop and find out that the angel was advertising a hamburger heaven.

Just Like Carnival

There was an Indian, in stock regalia, stirring in the lobby of the Ritz-Carlton, but nobody worried about him, either. A heavy scattering of people in full beards and robes walked the streets, and aroused no special attention. You could probably squeeze an adult giraffe into any given elevator in this town today, and the operator would yawn. Because this convention is sheer carnival, so far. It is a county fair, a Kentucky derby, a champion boxer's camp on the eve of a big fight.

I can't conquer a feeling of unreality. Thousands of people dash this way and that, and nobody seems to know anything. Odd characters wearing strange head-dresses corner you in lobbies, and give you the deep lowdown in terse phrases, through the corner of the mouth. A guy will come up, grab you by the lapel, and mutter: "It's in de bag for Joe Martin, see?"—Accompanied by some gibberish designed to convince you that Taft, Dewey, Vandenberg, Stassen and the motley favored sons have all signed a pact to go in the tank for Joe.

It smells like a tight crowd, or a pre-derby crowd. It talks with the baseless assurance of a boxing expert or a horse tout. It was in a crowd such as this that a man squeezed you into a corner to whisper tensely that it was in the sack for Camara. It is the kind of crowd that will assure you that the champion is going to splash in the fifth heat, or that Citation has come lame, or that Bob Feller's arm has suddenly soured. You can smell the peanuts in the air, and the hotdogs—and the man with the dancing marionettes, on the corner, chants softly: "No strings! No wires attached!"

Nobody Knows

Quite probably more newspapermen have interviewed more newspapermen in Philadelphia this week than in the history of all large events. They don't know what's going to happen, any more than the politicians who interview other politicians. Everyone seems to walk around in a forlorn hope of discovering something new from somebody, anybody. It looks like Dewey, somebody says, but that was before balloting, which most people assume will start either Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

It brings fragrant to mind the old story of Marshal Foch's chauffeur, back in World War I. Each day an eager assemblage called on Foch's driver.

"What did the Marshal say?" they would ask. "When will the war end?" And every day, Henri, the chauffeur, would answer: "Le Marechal has not spoken."

NEW VFW COMMANDER

Otho "Dutch" Beudoin, 42, is the first World War II veteran in the history of the Michigan VFW to become State Commander of the organization. He was elected June 13 at state encampment which was held at Port Huron this year. He had previously served as Junior Vice Commander of the Michigan VFW. Beudoin, a Detroit firm that owns and operates seven beauty shops, a dress shop and two restaurants. (AP photo).

Isabella

Ladies' Aid

Isabella, Mich.—Miss Signe Lundgren will be hostess to the Bethany Lutheran Ladies' Aid at the Bethany Lutheran church, Thursday, June 24, in the afternoon.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krantzsch and son and daughter of Green Bay spent the weekend visiting at the Felix Wyemberg home.

John Kallin and granddaughter, Armon, of Escanaba visited Sunday at the Arvid Sundin jr. home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Dupuis of Lake Linden, who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. William Bonifas of Isabella over the weekend, left today for Chicago where they will visit with friends and relatives for two weeks.

QUALITY VS. QUANTITY

The quality of sleep we enjoy is more important than the quantity. Slumber disturbed by any sort of a dream is a sign that the brain is still active.

He has not committed himself.

This went on for months, until, one day, Henri announced:

"Today, Mes Amis," he said, "Le Marechal has spoken."

"What did he say, Henri?" His friends pantingly asked. "Tell us, man, what did the Marshal say?"

"Monsieur Le Marechal Foch spoke today," said the chauffeur. "He asked me: 'Henri, when do you think the war will end?'"

That is Philadelphia in this hour of awful decision.

EXPAND RESORT HEALTH SERVICE

State's Program Guards
Summer Vacationists

To protect the health of 7,000,000 summer vacationists, the Michigan department of health and the local health departments are now augmenting their activities and personnel.

The local health departments which serve 92 per cent of the state's 5,500,000 population and the state health department carry on year around programs of sanitation related to restaurants, milk and water supplies and sewage disposal.

This month the state will add ten new sanitarians-at-large, and some local units will add student sanitarians to concentrate on the 3,000 resorts on the state's long shorelines and 6,000 inland lakes. These resorts which accommodate most of the state's vacationists include 2,000 cabin camps, many summer resort hotels, trailer camps, community resorts, parks, amusement and picnic areas in addition to 321 children's summer camps which provide outings for 100,000 children during the summer months.

Final inspections of water supply, food handling, sewage disposal, bathing facilities, and the general safety of each resort are being made. Those complying with sanitary and safety standards will be given metal "Sanitation Approved" signs to be posted on the premises.

Check Water Supplies
Roadside water supplies throughout the state are being checked and those safe for drinking will be posted with "Safe for Drinking" signs.

The year around inspection of common carriers' food and water supplies, that is for boats, airplanes, trains, is being expanded to include the state's ferry boats and summer resort specials.

Legislation to become effective July 1 will require all retail milk dealers to sell only pasteurized products.

The Michigan stream control commission is aiding some local communities in treating beaches to prevent swimmers' itch, and the Department of Conservation is providing this service for state parks. All unsafe bathing beaches in the state will be marked by sign "This Water Polluted with Sewage—Unsafe for Bathing" as soon as they become unsafe.

Ragweed Pollen Survey
The Michigan department of health with the cooperation of local communities is making preparation for its annual ragweed pollen survey for the benefit of hayfever sufferers.

Water supply and bathing beach water samples are continually being tested in the Michigan department of health laboratories in Lansing, Grand Rapids, Houghton and Powers, to keep current check against undue contamination.

The local and state health departments are increasing their communicable disease control activities and their reporting service keeps all sections of the state informed of any outbreak of communicable disease in any section of the state.

Consultants from the Michigan department of health are available at all times to assist in emergency outbreaks of epidemics, or in emergency sanitation problems. The additional sanitation personnel are added to assure that all sanitary facilities of rural and resort areas which normally serve only a sparse population are prepared to meet the needs of millions of vacationists.

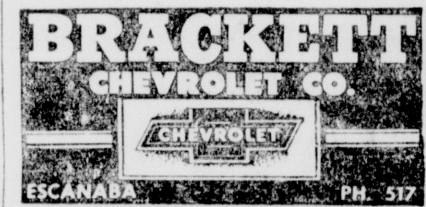

WORLD'S SPINNERS

U. S. Dogs Suffer From New Disease

Chicago—Dogs in this country are suffering from a new and highly fatal disease, the American Veterinary Medical Association reported here. Noticeable symptoms are fever, sore throat, coughing, loss of appetite, weakness and finally collapse and death. Sometimes there are also convulsions and other nervous manifestations. Postmortem examinations have shown severe damage to the liver.

Cause seems to be a virus, distinct from the virus that produces canine distemper. The disease seems to be identical with one that has killed 190 dogs in Sweden and "suggestively similar" to a malady that has caused the death of many dogs in Britain. Swedish veterinarians call it
